It's "gentlemen, start your engines" at Indianapolis, and last night it was "candidates, start your campaigns" in Granite City.

Thirteen seeking seven offices braved icy weather and so did about 150 voters who assembled at the Burns cafeteria.

The Get Granite Going group opened its gathering to the public and invited all who are running in the March primary election. The audience was polite, and all who spoke were applauded.

Sheriff candidate Michael Vincent presented burglary prevention advice and cited his eight years as a dispatcher in the department, including activities as a negotiator and guest lecturer.

He called for the next sheriff to upgrade morale, assign unproductive workers to the deputy staff to expand it from 44 to 60, and create a three-man crime prevention bureau.

Retired State Police Captain Emil Toffant, another of the five Democratic sheriff primary candidates, praised the "fair and square" campaign opening, agreed with Vincent on proposed departmental im-

Patrol car bids tabled

Bids for six new cars for the Madison County Sheriff's Office were tabled by the Madison County Board Wednesday morning after Board Member Roger Elble of Wood River said he feels the autos can be purchased cheaper through the state of Illinois.

Elble, chairman of the county's Central Services Committee, said the committee found that a bid from Highland Pontiac of Highland was the lowest at $22,835 for the cars, but recommended that the bids be rejected since the county might save money, in the long run, by purchasing cars through the state.

Elble said 1978 Plymouths, the same as used by the state police, could be purchased for $5,157 each, including the delivery charge. Cars now planned for trade-ins could be sold outright by the county.

Board Member Fred Dalton said some of the cars proposed for trade-ins have only 40,000 miles on them and he suggested they be kept at least 20,000 more miles.

Dalton also said there was only $25,000 in the budget for new sheriff's cars and insurance, and that accepting the Highland Pontiac bid would

IN POLICE CUSTODY TODAY near the Hope Clinic for Women opposite St. Elizabeth Hospital (which is reflected in the windows of the building housing the clinic and the obstetrics-gynecology offices of Dr. Hector Zevallos).

Cross Church, Wendelin, Ill., is shown with Patrolman David Polivick (left) and Sgt. Leonard Svodoba (right) as they take him to the City Hall. He had tried to enter the clinic and talk with patients and staff members.

Priest visits clinic today, is arrested

A Roman Catholic priest with the support of approximately 30 anti-abortion picketers tried to enter the Hope Clinic for Women and the private offices of Dr. Hector Zevallos this morning at 9:45.

The Reverend Edwin Arentsen, pastor until several weeks ago of a Belleville Diocese parish, confronted employees of the clinic—himself and them inside—separated by glass doors which had previously been locked.

He was taken into police custody, and the picketers moved to the vicinity of the police station.

He said he had resigned his position as pastor so that he could spend more time fighting against those who favor or who perform abortions.

After failing to enter the clinic, Fr. Arentsen succeeded in getting through one set of doors leading to the local physician's office, Dr. Zevallos is a medical director of the Hope Clinic and also has separate medical offices in the same building.

Granite City police were on the scene just minutes after the priest entered the doctor's office and tried to persuade him to leave.

As the officers arrived, the picketers began reciting prayers and cheering the priest on.

Each time that patients or deliverymen would attempt to enter the second set of doors to the Zevallos offices, Fr. Arentsen made forceful physical attempts to enter also, but was unsuccessful. Police used force to restrain him in a small entrance room.

As a young man and woman tried to enter the office, the priest held pictures of aborted fetuses in front of their faces and described what is done inside the building.

Police again restrained him as some of the staff members helped the young lady to enter the office.

Capt. Harry Mitchell of the Granite City Police Department went inside and upon his exit the priest once more gave the police a fight and was then led to a squad car to be taken to the police station.

The priest refused to enter the

Seek plant at General Steel

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

The possibility of a new metal processing facility moving into a portion of the former General Steel Castings plant (the former Commonwealth plant) in the near future was brought before the Granite City Council Tuesday night, with aldermen approving preliminary plans to back industrial revenue bonds for the plant.

Michigan Metal Processing Corp., Detroit, Mich., has been negotiating with Granite City Steel, which now owns the General Steel buildings, and with Granite City Mayor Paul Schulz to locate a processing plant here, it was disclosed.

Within about two years, the company would employ about 100 persons, Albert Jackson, company vice-president of administration, told the Press-Record from Detroit Wednesday morning.

Jackson said full details of the proposed operation are not being revealed while negotiations with Granite City Steel are in progress, but said Michigan Metal Processing conducts a pickling process and other processing of rolled heavy-gauge steel.

He said the plant could complement local industry, since it could increase Granite City Steel's capacity for putting finished steel on the market and would provide a close source of supply for industries needing heavy-gauge rolled steel, particularly in the automotive field.

"We would hope we will be able to help Granite City Steel increase its output of finished coils and would be able to establish a relationship with A. O. Smith Corp., and other industries who currently rely on Chicago for much of their finished steel for their overall operations," he said.

Jackson added that other industries needing heavy-gauge steel may find increased output from Granite City helpful and convenient.

He noted that Granite City is now the primary location under consideration for the new facility, but said there are alternate plans to put the processing plant in another city if negotiations are unsatisfactory.

In order to make needed improvements to the former buildings, the company would like to sell industrial revenue bonds which Granite City may issue as tax-free municipal bonds under the city's "home rule" powers.

The city would not be liable for repaying the bonds, if the company should default, the council was told.

Similar bonds have been sold for construction of the Archer

Daniels Millard Co., soybean processing plant on Cargill Road, for an addition to St. Elizabeth Hospital and for construction of the Ferrary Co. building on 25th Street, it was noted.

General Steel Industries closed the big plant, which was the original site of that com-

City, school jobless pay decisions near

Granite City officials are likely to have several working and committee meetings between now and Tuesday to decide what form of unemployment compensation the municipality will offer to city employees.

Effective Jan. 1, the state has mandated governmental agencies to assume the employer's share of the unemployment compensation program, a share which formerly had been paid by the state.

The legislature allows each governmental body to decide by Jan. 31 whether it wishes to pay a percentage of each employee's wages into the program, or whether it wishes only to reimburse the state for all unemployment claims from employees.

The problem is being considered by all governmental units in the state, but hardest hit in dollar volume in the Quad-City area are the Granite City municipal government and community unit school district No. 9. Neither has yet decided which method to use.

The City of Madison has decided to reimburse the state for any unemployment claims, rather than pay an annual percentage for each employee.

Venice city officials selected the other route and will pay one percent of each employee's wages — up to a maximum contribution of $60 per year — to the unemployment compensation program and will not have to reimburse the state for any unemployment claims.

If the city of Granite City selected the percentage basis for its more than 200 employees, it would cost about $12,000 per year.

However, if the city decided to reimburse the state for all unemployment claims, it would immediately begin paying the unemployment claims for eight employees of the street department's sewer repair crew, who are to be dismissed after tomorrow due to lack of funds to continue the program.

A Tuesday night's Granite City Council Meeting, the aldermen objected to a lack of information on which to base their decision.

They voted to refer the issue to the city's finance committee, attorney, clerk and treasurer for a recommendation at the next council meeting Tuesday, Jan. 24.

The Granite City School Board also is to meet next Tuesday evening and decide which method to use.

Local townships also are attempting to decide which method would be the least expensive in the long run.

Governor to talk

This state's top Republican officeholder, Governor James R. "Big Jim" Thompson, has accepted an invitation to be the featured speaker at Madison County Republicans' 1978 Lincoln Day dinner.

The governor will speak Wednesday, March 1, at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant on Highway Three, East Alton. A 6 p.m. social hour will precede the 7 p.m. dinner.

Other state primary candidates will attend, including Jim Skelton, seeking the state treasurer nomination.

Funds raised by the $15-a-plate event will be used in Madison County for the benefit of Republican candidates at all levels.

Sponsor of the dinner is the county GOP's Central Committee, headed by Dr. Edward F. Ragsdale.

Jack Penning of Godfrey is coordinating the Lincoln Day dinner. Telephone numbers for information or tickets are 466-2664, 466-2011 or 656-2731.

Morris proposing 6 new residences

Concern over stormwater drainage and sanitary sewers for a proposed 22-acre residential addition to the Town and Country East Subdivision was expressed by aldermen at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting.

Ralph Morris, head of Morris Realty, is planning development of the 60-lot Fifth Addition to Town and Country East between Maryville Road and Mockingbird Lane, adjoining Worthen Park.

Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Parmley said he is concerned over plans to tap new homes onto the sanitary sewer line constructed when Archer Daniels Midland Corp. opened its new soybean processing plant on Cargill Road and was served with the new line.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency agreed to allow a limited number of homes to tap onto that line. Parmley contended that only about 30 more homes will be allowed by the EPA to tap onto the sewer.

"I do not want to see 50 to 60 new homes out there when the EPA will only allow about 30 to 35 to tap-on the sewer and the rest would have to use septic tanks," Parmley said.

He noted that the Granite City

Plan Commission has studied the plans and has recommended that the City Council approve them, but added, "I want some questions answered before I am going to approve of this."

"They are proposing a holding pond for runoff water in

Schools reopen

Schools reopened in the Quad-City area yesterday, despite an accumulation of 11 inches of snow on the ground and a temperature which plunged to three degrees during the early morning.

Snowplows worked throughout the area to make driving easier, but many had to "dig" their parked cars out from curbs.

Snow pushed to the edge of the road has presented a major problem for postmen, particularly in rural areas, Granite

City Postmaster Herbert Backs said today in making an appeal that everyone help postmen reach mailboxes.

In areas where postmen drive to mailboxes at the curb, snow pushed aside by the plows is forcing the mailmen to get out of their cars and climb over the snow piles to reach the mailboxes. Backs said this is creating a dangerous situation for mailmen and is delaying mail deliveries.

HELPING HAND. A familiar sight Tuesday in the Quad-Cities — autos stuck in the snow. Helping mother, Mrs. Beverly McRaven, inside the auto, at 2621 Cleveland Blvd., are her sons, Mike (on the left, partly hidden) and Moe. The car was parked next to the curb and, after the sons dug out the drifting snow, the extra pushing was still necessary.

RHODERICK KEY

Rhoderick Key earns doctorate

Rhoderick E. Key, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhoderick W. Key, 5345 Franklin Ave., received a doctor of education degree from the University of Illinois after the fall semester. He was selected for membership in the Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

Dr. Key attended Granite City schools and received a bachelor of music education degree and master of music education degree from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

He has been chairman of the music department at Eastern Illinois University since 1974. He began his teaching career as a band and choral director in the Anna-Jonesboro public schools.

Key was instrumental music supervisor at the Eastern Illinois University laboratory school for four years.

Prior to being elected chairman of the music department, Dr. Key served as assistant to the dean.

The former local resident is president of the Association of Illinois Music Schools.

In addition to serving as guest conductor and music contest adjudicator in the Midwest, he has conducted management seminars for music administrators in California, Georgia, Illinois, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Dr. Key and his wife, Jane, have two daughters, Elizabeth and Stephanie. They reside in Charleston, Ill.

Baptist college encounter night

An "encounter night" for area high school students will be held Feb. 18 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Holiday Inn West, St. Louis County, by admissions representatives of Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, Mo.

The meeting, designed for high school students interested in more information about Southwest Baptist, will be held in the Cutlass Room of the Holiday Inn West at 270 and St. Charles Rock Road. The St. Louis encounter is one of six such meetings planned by SWBC's admissions personnel throughout the Midwest.

Jerald Andrews, acting director of admissions, and meeting coordinator, said it will focus on the college campus, financial aid and scholarships, programs, academic areas, organizations and activities.

Any student is invited to attend the session and parents are welcome, he added.

Southwest Baptist College is a four-year, co-educational, fully-credited institution. The college offers its 1,500 students 45 areas of study in four schools: School of Arts and Sciences; School of Business, Education and Social Sciences; School of Music and Fine Arts; and Redford School of Theology and Church Vocations.

County crusade chairman named

Lawrence Maher, manager of the public affairs department of Olin Corp., has accepted the chairmanship of the Cancer Crusade in Madison County for the 1978 campaign.

Maher, his wife, Maureen, and their three children reside in Alton.

He is a member of the Alton YMCA board and Piasa Bicycle Trail, and presently is serving as vice president of the legislative affairs division of the Greater Alton Chamber of Commerce.

Contributions to the 1977 crusade, also headed by Maher, totaled more than $90,000, the highest amount ever collected within Madison County.

Maher is planning a series of meetings with volunteers throughout the county, starting this month, to discuss details of the 1978 crusade.

"I am looking forward to working for the American Cancer Society again this year, because I am aware of the fine work they are doing in the field of research, service to cancer patients and the excellent public and professional education programs," Maher said.

Candidates

provements, and promised a "professional agency with professional law enforcement officers."

Toffant said if elected he would seek to immediately send four deputies to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy and also would arrange for training at a Louisville, Ky., police institute. He outlined his wide police experience.

Regional School Supt. Gene Briggs said more than 50 new services have been added in the past four years without expanding the staff, and cited establishment of regular contacts with senior citizens and parochial schools. Training for cooks, bus drivers and equivalency tests has been made more convenient, he said.

Vasil Efthymiou was complimentary to Briggs but urged faster expansion to other areas of local school innovations, such as alternative classes. He called for opening schools as evening neighborhood centers for all ages, scholarship expansions, and increased cooperative programs with park districts and municipalities.

Circuit Judge A. A. Matosian and William Johnson noted their judicial experience and described their philosophies.

Three of the four Democratic state representative candidates spoke—Rep. Joe E. Lucio, Rep. James McPike and former Rep. Sam Wolf.

Sen. Sam Vadalabene addressed the gathering along with two rivals, Steve Maragides and former Rep. Dan O'Neill, while County Board Member Daniel Partney outlined progress he has made in reducing governmental costs and upgrading procedures with a goal of saving tax funds.

Get Granite Going President Fred P. "Pat" Schuman Jr., a Granite City alderman, served as moderator and prayer was offered by Warren Decatur. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

North loses fourth

Granite City North's Steeler grapplers saw their dual meet record drop to 12-4 last night when they dropped a close decision to Riverview Gardens, Mo., 26-25. The Steelers were leading going into the heavyweight bout, before losing to Riverview.

The results were: 96-pound Gertrud Miller (N) lost to Markhanka 4-3, 105-Bob Kirgan (N) lost to Pullick 4-2, 112-Tracy Patton (N) was pinned by Dilleck 1:36, 119-Khris Whelan (N) defeated Gachner 16-3, 126-Kelvin Stewart (N) defeated Sacco 11-2, 132-Alan Kirgan (N) defeated West 15-3, 138-Bruce Uzunoff (N) lost to Brooks 9-4, 145-Ray Stuart (N) defeated Downs 20-1, 155-Bryan Cuvar (N) defeated Laxton 20-0, 167-Jerry Broadwater (N) lost to Beck 10-4, 185-Mitch Steen (N) had a draw with Bruer 8-8, heavyweight-Tim Wyrostek (N) was pinned by Smith (28).

South routs Alton

Granite City South's Warrior grapplers didn't let their first defeat of the season get them down.

After losing to Belleville West last Friday, the Warrior matmen came back in style last night with a rousing 55-2 rout of Alton.

"The Warriors won every bout but one and that was a 9-9 draw between the two teams' heavyweights, South's Don King and Terry Banks of Alton."

At 112, Rocky Lupardus became the second Warrior to pin his opponent. He did it to Chris West at the 33-second mark.

Scott Clement won his 119-pound bout from Keith Perry by pinning him at the 33-second mark.

Another South pin was dealt out in the 126-pound class when Barry Porshke took 5:10 to do it to Jim Hausmann. Dean Perkins won his 132-pound bout from Alton's Ralph Robinson 17-1.

At 138, Sam Perkins pinned

Dave Barnigmann at the 3:50 mark.

Warrior Scott Polson won his 167-pound bout from Steve Hawkins by racking up a 22-2 victory. At 185, Mark Kemp pinned Alton's John Almetzer at 2:15 of their bout.

South's record in dual meets is now 11-1. The Warriors will be in action tomorrow when they travel to Normandy, Mo., for a meet that is set to start at 4 p.m.

The Warriors will be in action again Saturday when they travel to Hazelwood, Mo., for a meet with Hazelwood Central, Roxana and Lindbergh. Starting time will be 11 a.m.

North's Steeler grapplers will be in action this weekend, also. They're scheduled to participate in the Quincy invitational tournament starting tomorrow and continuing through Saturday.

See "The Burning Hell", 20,000 degrees or more. Burning real fire and not a drop of water. People screaming in agony. Torment lost souls burning forever. Shocking-amazing. This Sunday, Jan. 22, 6:30 p.m. Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pantalon Road.

Christian Science TV show set Sunday

A different kind of television special following the theme of "love by neighbor" will be shown at 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 22, on KSD-TV Channel 5.

The show is called, appropriately enough, "Love Thy Neighbor."

In it, actress Jean Stapleton and three other people tell how they were faced with tough situations — the sort where thinking kindly of somebody else was next to impossible — and won. They succeeded in replacing bad feeling with love.

Jean's turning point came after a stormy session with that closest of "neighbors," her 10-year-old son. She threw herself at his locked bedroom door — and the laughter of the family taught her a lesson she still treasures.

Then there's Pauli Murray's experience. The University of North Carolina turned her back because she was black. Harvard turned her down because she was a woman. But she didn't give up, and the Rev. Dr. Murray became the first black woman priest in the Episcopal Church.

Marylou Speaker, a young musician, was faced with the tradition of male domination in a symphony orchestra. But she persevered, and earned her way to a place among its principal violinists.

The fourth experience is that of a reserve officer in the Navy who stopped criticizing his fellow officers and saw things improve as a result. And Dr. John Tyler Caldwell went on from there to become president of three universities.

Moderator Fay McKenzie from The Christian Science Monitor radio news service leads the segments together, and there's a title song sung by guitarist-composer Larry Groce of "Junk-Food Junkie" fame.

The show's mood is ecumenically religious, but it's not so heavy or doctrinal as to turn off the people who need it most. It's produced by The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and has already been recognized by some viewers in the business as a good, fresh piece of work.

Dr. Murray touches the heart of the show's message when she says, "Once we begin to realize that we are loved by God, then we want to share this with other people — and also we begin looking at other people as our sisters and brothers." Amen to that.

Cars collide, charges filed

An accident at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday on Rock Road at Jefferson Avenue involved vehicles operated by Richard O. Reeves, 2312 Miracle Ave., and Darrel O. Smith, Box 1346H, Rural Route One.

Reeves declined medical treatment and a breathalyzer test, it was alleged. He was charged with driving under the influence of liquor and driving without a valid driver's license. He is to appear Feb. 5.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott's motion this week with the Missouri Air Resources Commission seeks to intercede in hearings on a request by the Union Electric Company of St. Louis for variances in Missouri's air pollution regulations. Union Electric has asked for permanent variances from present Missouri air pollution standards for its Sioux plant, near Alton, and its Labadie plant, west of St. Louis.

Scott said the variances, if granted, would permit Union Electric to disperse into the air "double or triple" the amount of sulfur dioxide presently permitted by Missouri regulations. Scott alleged Union Electric's request represented "an unfair attempt to use up the allowable margins of industrial air pollution in the greater St. Louis area, at the expense of Illinois citizens and industry."

Illinois standards for sulfur dioxide air pollutants are 1.8 pounds per million BTU's. The amount Union Electric asks for its Sioux plant alone is 6.3 pounds per million BTU's, Scott asserted.

He said that information provided by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency indicates that if the variances are granted, future growth of industrial resources in the Illinois area would be prohibited because of increased air pollution.

Scott said the permanent variances would amount to amending the Missouri regulations, "thus having a detrimental effect on the intent of the regulations to protect public health."

Union Electric is a utility providing electric power to the St. Louis area, including part of the Quad-Cities.

A hearing on the company's request is expected to be scheduled for February.

Percentage plan selected for Venice city unemployment pay

Venice aldermen voted Tuesday night to have the city pay one percent of wages annually for each city employee in 1978, unemployment insurance requirements.

City Attorney Harry Hartman said, "The city under the Unemployment Compensation Act must now pay into the state fund."

"The city may elect to pay one per cent of each employee's salary up to $6,000, which would be $60 per employee a year, or the council may elect to reimburse the state for all monies paid by the state under the act."

It was estimated that the one percent for city and McKinley Bridge employees would be approximately $3,500 a year. It was also pointed out by Hartman that one claim could run over $5,000 if the city chose the reimbursement plan.

McKinley Bridge Manager Thomas Fields said, "Our daily traffic average for the month of December 1977 was 8,453 vehicles, with a total of 261,503 crossing during the month. This is a 1,525 per day increase over December of 1976. "January started out well but this last snow has hurt. However, I think now that everything is cleared fairly well, traffic will pick up."

It was noted by Mayor Ebersold that signal lights controlling westbound traffic in the Broadway underpass leading to the city-owned bridge are giving too little time on green.

He commented, "I wish you would check into the timing on the traffic lights, Tom. I was going around the city checking things out this morning and that light only lets about three cars at a time go past, coming out of the underpass and heading toward St. Louis," Ebersold said.

An arrest report submitted by Chief of Police Ralph D. Bravley showed $1,048 collected in fines during December 1977, with 14 adults and two juveniles arrested. A discussion was held on the need for a city ordinance establishing a sick leave and sick pay policy for all employees of the city.

A suggested ordinance is to be drawn up for discussion at the next council meeting. Council members felt that the majority of city employees don't abuse the privilege of calling in sick, but that a definite policy is needed.

Airport development needs local funding

For development of Lakeside Airport, $55,000 of local funds would have to be put into the project, according to Greg Stearns, who spoke to Tuesday's luncheon of the Granite City Rotary Club, is transportation manager for the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

He spoke briefly to the club about area highways, ports, transit, rail and air transportation systems.

According to Stearns, in discussing Lakeside, local money is needed before federal funds would be allocated for the project, and Lakeside would have to be under public ownership.

He told the Rotarians that the Illinois side of the Mississippi River is excellent for water transportation, with 24-hour floating Chain of Rocks Canal and Locks 27 and the Tri-City Port development in the Rock Road area.

Development of an industrial park was encouraged by Stearns, who noted that a sanitary sewer system probably is needed before another industrial park can become a reality.

Darryl Slater, chili supper chairman, told the Rotarians that each member will be given 15 tickets to sell at $1.50 each. The chili event is scheduled for Feb. 28, in the Northridge United Methodist Church.

Rotary President Donald Shaffner reminded the club members to make reservations for the Tuesday, Feb. 14, Rotary Valentine's Day dance in the Granite City Army Installation.

Big response to health care plan in Chouteau

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, told that township's Board of Trustees Monday night that there has been "good response" from township residents to a new health care program in which grant funds are to be used to aid low-income residents in purchasing eyeglasses, hearing aids, dentures and other health needs.

Sparks said the program now has about $5,000 in Anti-Recession Fiscal Assistance (Title II) grant funds available for the program, which should be adequate for the anticipated number of requests.

Should the number of qualified applicants requesting help exceed the amount of money available, the township may have to pro-rate the amount each member will receive from the health program, Sparks said.

Persons wishing additional details on the program may call the town hall at 931-0960 during business hours, he said.

In other business, the board agreed to get estimates and invite demonstrations of several types of photocopy machines.

After deciding what type of machine will best suit the township's needs, the board plans to seek bids for the purchase.

Sparks reported he has received a federal revenue sharing entitlement check for about $8,200 and has deposited it in the township's bank account.

Mrs. Turnbull, 80, dies

Mrs. Amy M. (Harper) Turnbull, 80, of 2709 Marshall Ave., Ill. for one year, died at 9:11 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She was a member of Central Christian Church and also a member of the Christian Women's Fellowship at the church.

Mrs. Turnbull moved to Granite City in 1914 from her birthplace, Anthony's Mill, Mo. Her husband, Leonard Turnbull, died in 1963. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Eula Pentecost, and one brother, Richard Harper, both of Granite City; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Home mortgage demand sparks State Loan & Savings growth

State Loan and Savings Association, Netherland and Edison Avenues, organized for the new year last week by electing President Robert E. Backs, Vice President Donald G. Adams, Secretary-Treasurer James R. Seitz and Assistant Secretary Dolores M. Jaro.

The year of 1977 produced a strong demand for residential mortgages and a good inflow of savings, Pres. Backs commented.

"This resulted in a good year for our association, both in mortgage loans and profits," From all indications, we can expect 1978 to be the same."

Directors re-elected this month are Backs, Adams, Clifton E. Blankenship, Dr. J. C. Byers, Maurice Daily, Richard H. Ervey and Frank R. Rea.

For the fiscal period ended Nov. 30, 1977, State Loan and Savings reported $21,418,293 in assets, including $18,162,881 in first mortgage loans and contracts.

Savings accounts totaled $18,898,325.

State Loan and Savings has membership in the Illinois Savings and Loan League, Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago, United States Savings and Loan League and Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Mrs. Klausmeyer, 90, dies

Mrs. Mathilda (Branding) Klausmeyer, 90, of 2829 Warren Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City and the Nameoki area, died at 4:50 p.m. Tuesday at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

She had been ill the past 18 months and was a resident at the Madison County Nursing Home, Edwardsville, for the same length of time.

Mrs. Klausmeyer was born in Nameoki Township. She was a member of St. John United Church of Christ and the Women's Guild of the church. Her husband, Alfred Klausmeyer, died in 1964.

Mrs. Klausmeyer is survived by three brothers, Henry, Fred and Elmer W. Branding, all of Granite City, and a sister, Miss Mary Branding of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Dixon tripling job protection for employees

Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon's new merit code will triple the number of employees under code job protections in his office, he said in remarks prepared for presentation today at a dinner of the members of the Madison County Bar Association at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City.

"Our new, separate merit employment code, signed into law last May, is the first for any statewide elected officer other than the governor," Dixon said.

"Until now, about a third of our employees have been protected under the state personnel code controlled by the governor's office."

"From now on, at least 95 percent of our work force will be covered."

"There are some general exemptions such as myself, our top executives and our personal secretaries and administrative assistants."

"There are partial exemptions for a few others, such as craftsmen paid at prevailing wages, and positions of policy-making or highly confidential nature."

But virtually all our rank-and-file employees are now safe-guarded against political shakeups, unjustified discharge, demotion or suspension.

"A position in the secretary of state's office will not be a patronage plum, controlled by a political party. An employee obtains and holds his job by his own merit and fitness."

"Our personnel department prepared a job classification plan, which the merit commission approved before we made it effective, and a pay plan, which I approved."

"These plans provide for salary ranges so that employees of similar responsibility and similar degrees of qualification will receive similar pay."

"Rules setting forth the rights of employees and management were developed by the personnel department, given public hearings Dec. 12 and 13 and approved by the merit commission Dec. 29, 1977."

"They now have the force and effect of law, and will standardize employees' rights throughout the state."

"When I ran for this office, I pledged I would work for such a merit system, in which employees would serve, not at the pleasure of the secretary, but as long as they did their work well. This promise is being fulfilled."

"The merit system will attract and hold the best workers, who will do the best job for the people of Illinois."

Carpool lane plan praised

Increasing numbers of carpools using the priority lanes on northern Virginia's Shirley Highway (Interstate 95) are demonstrating that freeway lanes reserved for buses and carpools have an extremely high ability to move people, in the opinion of U.S. Department of Transportation officials.

Shirley Highway is an 11-mile freeway in northern Virginia serving the national capital area with two exclusive express lanes for buses and carpools and three regular lanes in each direction for nonpriority traffic.

In a new report titled "Evaluation of Alternative Traffic Operations Plans for Commuter Lanes on the Shirley Highway in Virginia," the Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) documents the magnitude of the changes in numbers of people using the priority lanes through early 1977.

A reserved lane was opened to buses in April 1971, and since then the number of buses during the 6 to 9:30 a.m. period has increased from 20 to 500, carrying over 16,000 people every morning.

In December 1973, carpools of four or more people began using two lanes, and they have increased from 300 to over 3,000 vehicles carrying about 13,500 people every morning during the same peak period.

The report shows that the two priority bus and carpool lanes are accommodating a total of 29,000 people in 3,500 vehicles during morning rush hours, while 25,500 people in 18,300 vehicles are using the three regular (nonpriority) lanes.

Traffic counts during the last week in October, after publication of the report, showed that the number of carpools using priority lanes in the same peak period has increased to over 3,500 vehicles carrying almost 16,000 commuters.

Commenting on these findings, John S. Hassell Jr., FHWA's associate administrator for planning, expressed hope that the public will view the terms of the priority lanes' people-carrying rather than just vehicle-carrying capability.

"These facts should refute the claims of 'under utilization' on the priority lanes," Hassell said, "because these priority lanes are providing a good level of service. They move almost 15,000 people in 1,800 vehicles in each lane, one of which is carrying 8,500 people in 6,000 vehicles per lane in stop-and-go traffic."

See "The Burning Hall," 20,000 degrees of more, burning real life and not a drop of water. People screaming in agony. Tortured lost souls burning forever. Shocking-amazing. This Sunday, Jan. 22, 5:30 P.M. Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pontoon Road.

Technicians form group

The new Emtok Association held its first general membership meeting at St. Mary's Hospital Trauma Center in East St. Louis. Emtok is an association of emergency medical technicians.

The group is intended to further the objectives of emergency medical care by focusing on emergency medical technician (EMT or Emtok) skill maintenance, and combining EMT efforts for community service.

From the membership came several objectives to be undertaken by Emtok in the immediate future. Among these are providing refresher training for area EMTs, offering continuing educational programs at membership meetings, and forming a mutual assistance relationship with EMT associations in adjacent communities.

Education will be designed to satisfy state and national requirements for biennial recertification.

President Davis Creer said he will be sensitive to organizations that are supposed to give emergency medical care but that do not provide trained personnel.

Through Emtok, he hopes to bring such problems to light and effect improvements.

George Foster (271-0422), Rescue Squad of East St. Louis, said, "Emtok may become large or small, but it's going to be effective for its membership and its area."

Presently, there are 60 members in the new organization. EMTs interested in joining Emtok may call George Foster during the day.

In Belleville cage tourney

Steelers improve by 28, but fall to East, 61-47

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
BELLEVILLE, Jan. 17 — Bill Ohlendorf and his Granite City North cagers knew that they'd be in for a rough game Tuesday night when they met Belleville East. They were right.

The Steelers, behind a not shooting performance of substitute Randy Vandergriff, made a run late in the game but fell to the taller Lancers, 61-47 in the first round of the Belleville Invitational Tournament.

It was the Steelers' second loss to East this season. They lost on the first night of the season to the Lancers, 86-54. Tuesday's score was an improvement of 28 points for North over that one.

The Steelers will play Belleville Althoff tonight at 7 o'clock in the consolation round. Althoff fell to Centralia in the other Tuesday night game.

Vandergriff came off the bench in the second quarter and started getting hot. He scored six points in the quarter and 10 more in the second half, but it wasn't enough. He was the only Steeler who made it into double figures.

The Lancers did a good job of defending the North offense including a good job by Jeff Lanter on Steeler sophomore standout Dennis Page.

Page scored eight points, but that was 11 short of his 19 points per game average.

But the principle figure in the East win was 6-9 senior center Bryan Leonard. The Belleville giant scored 27 points, including 16 in the second half.

"HIS PRESENCE hurt us," said Ohlendorf. "I think it'd have an effect on any team they play."

Ohlendorf thought we did a decent job on him. Brad (Gauert) I thought played him real well. But when he's on top of his game, he's got to be one of the best players in this area."

The Steelers fell behind at the end of the first half, 26-13. That proved to be just too much for them to overcome.

They played the Lancers even in the second half, but they couldn't muster enough firepower at the critical moments.

The closest North could get was 45-37 with 6:15 remaining in the game when Bob Beatty hit a 10-footer.

But the Lancers' Chris Louth and Leonard combined for the next six points and East has led back up to a more comfortable margin, 51-37.

Speaking of Vandergriff's performance, Ohlendorf said, "He played real well. He's the type of guy who'll many times come off the bench and spark a team on."

Trojans 'held' to 79-34 win

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
DUPO, Jan. 18 — Orchard Farm coach Ron Tibbles had a theory on how to slow down the Madison Trojans... slow his own team down. It almost worked.

Almost, but not quite.

The Eagles of Orchard Farm, Mo., played the epitome of slow-down basketball last night against Madison. They passed the ball around, and around and around... until they found the highest percentage shot available.

They slowed the tempo of the game so much that the score at halftime was 22-15.

But somewhere, probably in the locker room of Madison at halftime, things changed. The Trojans blew the Eagles away in the second half and coasted away with a 79-34 win.

They will play East St. Louis Assumption tonight at 8 o'clock in the tourney's second round. Assumption defeated Columbia in another first round game yesterday.

THE KEY to the Trojans' turnaround was turnovers, according to head coach Larry Graham.

Graham, "After we got our turnovers down, we didn't really have much trouble."

Another key to the Trojans' win also involved turnovers. Their defense caused the Eagles to commit 33 of their 20 in the second half.

Graham was pleased with the play of his reserves, who got to see considerable action in the second half.

"I THOUGHT our substitutes came in and did a fine job. There are a couple of guys who can really put it in the hole."

Graham wasn't kidding about that, either. Cecil Cross, a 6-1 junior guard, came off the bench to lead Madison in scoring 16 points.

"We really cut down on our turnovers," he said. "That was the key to the whole thing. In the first half, every time we'd get the ball, it seemed as if we beat ourselves."

When Graham said Madison cut down on turnovers, he wasn't kidding. The Trojans committed 14 miscues in the first half, compared to only seven in the second half.

A basket by Tim Colston and a steal of the ensuing Eagles inbound pass at the beginning of the third quarter were all the Trojans needed to spark them on.

They outscored Orchard Farm 32-4 in the period and coasted home from there.

"I THOUGHT we played pretty well, for us," said

KENNY STANLEY of Madison appears to be a bit upset that this free throw by Orchard Farm went through the net. But he really didn't have much to worry about... the Trojans blew the Eagles out of the gym last night in the first round of the Dupo tournament, 79-34.

Averaging 16.1 per game

Madison's Jones burning the Illinois State nets

Sophomore guard Ron Jones of Illinois State University has been burning the nets for the Redbirds of late.

Jones, a 1976 graduate of Madison High School who hails from Venice, has been hitting the Redbirds' leading scorer the last four games.

Jones had a career high 34 points against nationally-ranked University of Nevada-Las Vegas on the Rebels' home court Friday night. He also led the team in rebounds with 10. Jones had 19 points against Northern Illinois on Jan. 11 in the Redbirds' 79-57 win. He led the team to an 88-85 win over Cal State Fullerton on Jan. 7 with his 21 points and seven rebounds.

Jones also led Illinois State on Jan. 5 in its 84-69 loss to University of California at Santa Barbara. He scored 22 points in that effort.

That defeat and the one to Nevada-Las Vegas are the only two losses the Redbirds have suffered thus far this season on their way to a 14-2 record entering last night's game with Quincy College.

Jones, who suffered through a slump early in the season, has come on strong to average 16.1

points a game (second behind the 20.1 average of Billy Lewis). He leads the team in assists and steals.

Jones has made 71 assists (Derrick Mayes is second with 67) and has stolen the ball 30 times. Lewis is second in steals with 21.

Illinois State coach Gene Smithson is pleased with the way Jones has progressed since suffering through that early-season slump.

"It was just a matter of time before the shots would start falling for him," said Smithson. "Ron has great skills."

"Our main concern was for him to stay relaxed and not get frustrated when he was in the slump."

Nature does it again

Mother Nature did it again. The snowfall that hit the Midwest Sunday and Monday played havoc with area sports schedules, especially basketball.

The Dupo Basketball Tournament, in which Madison's Trojan cagers are entered had to be postponed from Monday to Wednesday because of the snow on both Monday and Tuesday.

The Dupo Tournament, in which Madison's Trojan cagers are entered, was originally set to begin Monday night. But it was postponed until Tuesday night.

When Tuesday rolled around, the snow still had not stopped sufficiently enough to play, so the tourney games were set back another day.

Warriorettes begin January 24

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
Pat Yates doesn't mind if nobody comes to watch her teams play, and she says that she doesn't think the team members mind it either.
Yates is the coach of the girls basketball team at Granite City South which opens its 1978 season next Tuesday (Jan. 24) at home against Edwardsville at 6:30 p.m.
She says that the lack of fan interest in her girls' games doesn't serve as a deterrent to their own enthusiasm.
"I DON'T THINK that it bothers the girls that they don't get as much attention as the boys," said Yates. "They're a real hard-working group and I really think they're used to it anyway."
The South girls have been practicing for about a month and Yates is pleased with what she has seen.

"I think our main strength will be outside shooting," she said. "We've been working on it a lot and have been doing pretty well."
If the main strength of a team is outside shooting, it follows that the main weakness would be size. Right?
"We'll have problems with our height, no doubt about it," said Yates. "Our average height will be about 5-3. And against some of the competition in this area, that's not very big."
THAT COMPETITION includes what Yates describes as "a real tough schedule."
"The toughest teams we'll face will probably be Alton, Belleville, Alton, and East St.

Louis," she said. "They've had programs for a long time and have built up a winning tradition."
The program for South is in its fifth year. Yates said that the Warriorettes' schedule is shorter than most area schools, because the officials at South are trying to gradually build up the program.
"We started out with just a handful of games our first couple of seasons," she said. "We've just added a few more each year to give the program time to adjust as well as the girls."
THE TALLEST PLAYER for the Warriorettes this season will be Lisa Sarich, a 5-11 sophomore. "Lisa's improving real well and could become a real fine player. She just lacks some experience," said Yates. Yates is philosophical when it comes to talking about her teams' chances this winter. "It's hard to say really until you go out and play an actual game," she said. "Our schedule's real tough. One of the two teams we beat last year (South finished last season with a 2-9 record) was Roxana, and they dropped us from their schedule this year."

"But the girls have a good attitude and are working real hard on fundamentals, and I think that it might just pay off later in the season."
Nineteen South girls have gone out for the squad this season, which also pleases Yates. "It's gratifying to know that so many have gone out for the team," she said.

SOUTH will also have a junior varsity program in addition to the varsity squad. The junior varsity games will start at 6:30 p.m., with the varsity games immediately after.

Volleyball scholarship auditions

The McKendree College Department of Women's Athletics will conduct open auditions for volleyball scholarships Saturday, Jan. 21. All senior high school girls interested in playing varsity volleyball at McKendree College, Lebanon, during the 1978-79 season are to attend the auditions at 1 p.m. in the McKendree gymnasium.
Girls planning to participate should bring gym shoes, a towel and a high school team uniform or practice uniform. Athletic taping will be provided by the Women's Athletic Department staff to students who furnish directions from their high school athletic trainer.
For more information and registration Quad-Cityans may call, toll free, Miss Jean Kirtz, McKendree women's athletic director, 800-682-3073.

Warrior cagers in action Friday

The Granite City South basketball Warriors will be in action here tomorrow night in a game that is a makeup of a Dec. 9 contest.
The Warriors will face Quincy Notre Dame at home. The game was postponed because of snow in early December.
The junior varsity contest will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity game is set to start around 8 p.m. for the Warriors, who have ten wins and four losses.

Heads cancer crusade

Richard J. Lucido, a teacher at Granite City High School South, has been named Cancer Crusade chairman in Granite City for the 1978 campaign.

Announcing Lucido's appointment this week was Larry Maher, crusade chairman for the Madison County Unit, American Cancer Society.

A native of Granite City, Lucido received his high school diploma from Assumption High School, East St. Louis, in 1967. He attended St. Louis University, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Tex.; the University of Hawaii in Honolulu and Illinois State University at Normal.

Lucido has a bachelor's degree in psychology and a master's degree in special education. He served six years in the U.S. Army Reserves and received an honorable discharge in 1977.

As a member of the Council of Exceptional Children, Lucido has served on many committees for the last five years and is past president of Chapter 841.

In 1974, he was named "rockie of the year" by the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children and in June of this year he will begin serving on the IEC's state executive board.

Prior to joining the faculty at South High, Lucido taught special education students in the Granite City school district for six years.

In a volunteer capacity, he

RICHARD LUCIDO
Crusade chairman

has taught swimming for the handicapped under the Tri-City Red Cross chapter's sponsorship. His hobbies include swimming, scuba diving, skiing, boating and traveling. He is a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

No stranger to the Cancer Society's annual drive, Lucido has assisted his uncle, Joseph Lucido, chairman of previous local campaigns.

"I am looking forward to working again for the Cancer Society as chairman, because I know the good the society does," Lucido said.

Mrs. Grace Hamilton dies

Mrs. Grace Olivia Hamilton, 61, of 1027 Madison Ave., Madison, a retired Madison school employee, died at 2 p.m. Monday at Oliver Anderson Hospital, Maryville, where she had been a patient for three days.

She had been employed for seven years as a cook at Harris

School before she retired two years ago.

Mrs. Hamilton was born in St. Cloud, Minn., and was a resident of Madison for 35 years.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Madison, and the Royal Neighbors.

Her husband, Donald Hamilton, died in 1957.

Survivors include four sons, Donald Hamilton of Detroit, Mich., Bob "Corky" Hamilton of Granite City, Pal Hamilton of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Richard Hamilton of Bay City, Tex.; three daughters, Mrs. Jerry (Karen) Brock of Carbondale, Kan., Miss Jill Hamilton of St. Louis and Mrs. Richard (Olivia) Kneissel of Detroit; her mother, Mrs. Astrid Magnuson, Stockholm, Sweden; three brothers, George Palm, Baudette, Minn., Harold Palm, Rockford, Ill., and Steen Anderson of St. Cloud, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. Ann Brownell, Santa Barbara, Calif., and Mrs. Evan Gustafson, Canby, Minn.; and 10 grandchildren.

Sawed-off rifle is found during arrest

Thomas D. Parmer, 17, of 2225 Hodges Ave., was charged with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, unlawful possession of a weapon by a youth under 18 years of age, not having a firearm owner's identification card and allegedly pointed a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle at another youth at 25th and Benton streets Monday.

Also charged with disorderly conduct are Gerald Everett, 17, of 2805 Roosevelt Ave., Bobby Hartman, 17, of 2627 Highway Three, and Kerry Trobaugh, 17, of 4028 Rode Ave. Police were told a fight was about to start near 25th and Benton streets and one youth had a gun. As officers arrived, a youth matching the description of the one seen with a gun was detected running west on 25th Street.

He was apprehended behind

Gail's Market but did not have a weapon. Upon questioning, police said, he told them where the gun was hidden. They found the sawed-off rifle hidden under snow near the market.

One officer said he asked if the gun was loaded, and was told it was not. He then checked the chamber and alleged finding a live .22 caliber shell.

The others told police two youths were about to fight when a third stepped in to aid one of the youths.

Parmer then allegedly stepped up to the fight, reached under his coat and displayed the gun, pointing it at Trobaugh and saying, "Don't start any trouble or I'll use it."

Cralley allegedly beat 61-year-old Willie Gibbs, 2810 Pershing Blvd., in the Granite City Jail July 13, 1977, while both were being detained in the "bullpen" area. Cralley was being held on a charge of possessing marijuana and Gibbs had been booked for disorderly conduct when the incident occurred.

Cralley was sentenced before Circuit Judge Harold Clark. He also is serving a concurrent three years of probation on the marijuana charge.

Three-month jail sentence

Rickie Pulley, 2106 Nameoki Road, has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville to serve three months in the Madison County Jail after pleading guilty to burglary.

Pulley allegedly burglarized the home of Clinton Carrio, 2325 Lincoln Ave., Oct. 20, 1977. The sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge Joseph Barr.

Mrs. Johannigmeier dies

Mrs. Hester Johannigmeier, 78, of 2545 Lincoln Ave., died at 11:43 p.m. Monday at the Normandy Osteopathic Hospital, Normandy, Mo.

She was a member of the Pontoon Beach Church of Christ and Granite Chapter 650 of the Order of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Johannigmeier was born in St. Louis and resided in Granite City for 54 years. She had been ill for one month.

Her husband, Charles Johannigmeier, died in 1953.

Survivors include four sons, Norman Dixon, San Jose, Calif.; Arthur Dixon, St. Louis; Samuel Dixon, Lawrence, Kan.; and Charles Johannigmeier Jr., Granite City; three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Annabelle) Murphy, Granite City, Mrs. Roland (Susan) Anderson, Valley Park, Mo., and Mrs. John (Hedy) Kirschner of Ferguson, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Krauch of Chicago; 24 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

GBU meeting is canceled

A regular monthly meeting of the Greater Beneficial Union, scheduled for Friday, Jan. 20, won't be held due to the snow and cold weather, according to Bert Waltenberger, president.

A date for the next session is to be announced later.

10 openings in Slimettes class

Due to an excessive number of people being ill in the past several weeks, plus the recent cold and snow, the Granite City Park District's Slimettes program will not drop any participants because of absences.

Those who registered for the program in the fall still may attend the classes, Mrs. Helen Bjorkman, instructor, said.

She also announced openings for up to 10 new members in the Tuesday evening and Thursday morning classes.

Persons wishing to register may do so at the Wilson Park office by showing proof of residence, such as a utility bill receipt.

The program is free to park district residents. Non-residents are charged $15.

'Wildlife needs you' is chosen as theme

More than 12 million schoolchildren, teachers and conservationists are expected to participate in National Wildlife Week, to be observed from March 19 through March 25 this year.

"Wildlife Needs You" will be the theme for the 41st annual observance of the week that was first proclaimed as Wildlife Restoration Week by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938. The observance has been sponsored each March since then by the 3.5 million-member National Wildlife Federation (NWF), the nation's largest conservation group.

Wildlife education kits have been mailed to 240,000 teachers in all 50 states, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Among other materials, the kits contain two posters, one picturing 16 species of wildlife and the other a close-up color photograph of a peregrine falcon by Canadian wildlife photographer David Hancock.

Both bear the inscription, "Wildlife Needs You."

The peregrine falcon was chosen for the poster, according to NWF President Ray Arnett of Stockton, Calif., as a symbol of public concern over wildlife.

"The peregrine was once threatened with extinction by pesticides," said Arnett. "But when the public got concerned and did something about it, the trend was reversed and the bird may now survive."

It was never a popular species, and by the peregrine had nearly disappeared from the eastern United States and was declining rapidly in the west. Researchers blamed the pesticide DDT for the bird's disappearance in the Eastern U.S.

Because the peregrine is carnivorous, at the top of the food chain, it accumulated DDT by eating other animals that had ingested the pesticide. The DDT caused the shells of the birds' eggs to become so thin that they broke before hatching, the Wildlife Federation believes.

In all of the United States, only about 20 active nests were known to exist in 1959-70.

A slow turnaround began after Congress in 1972, responding to the demands of conservationists, virtually outlawed the use of DDT and similar pesticides in the U.S.

In 1973, 20 peregrines were hatched at Cornell University in New York. By the fall of 1977, about 133 young birds had been released in the wild, both east and west of the Rocky Mountains.

The Laboratory of Ornithology at Cornell hopes within the next seven years to establish some breeding pairs in the wild in the east and to increase the number of productive nests in the west.

The second poster, picturing 16 varieties of wildlife, ranging from the mountain goat to the gray treefrog, describes each of the animals in three languages —English, Spanish and French. A total of 900,000 posters is being distributed. Also available are 10,000 small stickers picturing the peregrine falcon. In the poster picture, the falcon's head is cocked and his huge right eye is fixed on the photographer.

As an example of wartime Uncle Sam-Needs-You posters.

Forty thousand smaller kits for children also are in the mail. Each includes a letter urging youngsters to take their wildlife information to school and help others learn how they can help the nation's mammals, reptiles, birds and fish.

"There are many things we can do to foster a healthy and abundant wildlife population in this country," said Arnett. "Wildlife Week will emphasize education, legislation and citizen concern."

"The preservation of wildlife habitat is one of the areas in which wildlife needs our help. In the past year, millions of dollars were spent by the federal government to preserve habitat, but billions were also spent to destroy it."

As an example of legislation benefiting wildlife, Arnett cited the 1977 law regulating strip mining. "This act, requiring restoration of land, will aid wildlife in some areas," he said.

"And some of our threatened and endangered species are making comebacks thanks to other environmental protection laws — on water pollution, coastal zone and ocean dumping."

"The National Environmental Protection Act, the Endangered Species Act, and the national wildlife refuge system are also important and have helped, for instance, to replenish the whooping crane population from a low of fewer than 25 birds to more than 100 whoopers today."

"What we need," Arnett emphasized, "is a strong feeling for and full understanding of the ties between man, wildlife and the environment. When everyone understands their interdependence, then the outlook will be better for all three."

ESTATE PLANNING
SEMINAR, FEB. 7

The Madison County Farm Bureau Women's Committee is sponsoring an estate planning seminar at the Farm Bureau building, Edwardsville, Feb. 7 starting at 1 p.m. The meeting is open to the public, according to the chairman, Lucille Schaefer.

L. Milton McClure Jr. of Beardstown will be the guest speaker, assisted by Jan. Austerlium of Bloomington.

Move outside city limits is alleged

Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente has filed charges with the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners against Engineer Thomas Jenkins, a fireman, alleging Jenkins has moved outside of the city.

Parente said state statutes and Granite City Fire Department rules require firemen to reside inside the city boundaries. He said that when questions regarding Jenkins' residency arose, he requested the Granite City Police Department to conduct an investigation.

The police report alleged Jenkins had moved from 2439 State St. to a farmhouse at Rural Route One, Granite City, on West Pontoon Road near Rock Road.

Parente said Jenkins was informed late last week that charges would be filed with the board of commissioners and he verbally resigned at that time. Jenkins did not report for work Friday, but Saturday he notified Weldon Burch, commission chairman, that he would fight the charges, Parente related.

"We do not know what his status is, at this time—whether his verbal resignation has legal standing or not—but I have not suspended him and the commissioners have not acted yet," Parente said, noting he plans to meet with City Attorney Lance Callis this evening for a legal opinion on the case.

Withheld tax reports due

Employers have until Tuesday, Jan. 31, to report Social Security and federal income taxes withheld for the last quarter of 1977 and to pay any taxes due. Ira S. Loebe, Internal Revenue Service district director for central and southern Illinois, said this week if the quarterly tax liability (reduced by any deposit) is $200 or more, the unpaid balance must be deposited.

Employers who make timely deposits in Federal Reserve or authorized commercial banks of the full amount of the tax due are exempt from this deadline. They are allowed until Feb. 10 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return."

Any balance of federal unemployment tax not over $100 for 1977 should be paid by Jan. 31, and Form 940 should be filed by this date.

Balances of tax due over $100 require the employer to make a deposit with FTD Form 508. As with Form 941, taxpayers who deposit the full amount of tax on time have until Feb. 10 to file the return.

Loebe emphasized that employers who received the preaddressed Form 940 and Form 941 in the mail should use them to file the report.

Those persons who did not receive the preaddressed forms can obtain forms from their IRS office.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide," provides further information on these taxes and is available free from most local IRS offices.

Christian unity service planned

Two Roman Catholic nuns will participate in services at Christ Episcopal Church in Collinsville Sunday, Jan. 22, in observance of the annual National Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, according to the Rev. Walter W. Witte, priest-in-charge.

Sister Luanne, a Franciscan and staff member at Karen House, a Catholic worker hospitality house for women in North St. Louis, will be the pulpit guest at both the 7:45 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. celebrations of the Holy Eucharist at Christ Church, located at 115 S. Seminary St.

Sister Luanne also serves as a consultant to the St. Louis Institute for Education in Peace and Justice.

Also assisting at the services will be Sister Nathalie of the Sisters of Charity, an associate professor of nursing at St. Louis University and a certified midwife at St. Joseph City Hospital in South St. Louis.

An offering will be given by the Collinsville parish to Karen House, which primarily serves unwed mothers and also wives who are taken their children from irresponsible or abusing husbands. It is one of 70 hospitality houses across the United States inspired by Catholic social activist Dorothy Day.

Auto batteries—a cold weather danger

Nearly 8,000 injuries from car batteries occur each year, three quarters of them involving the eyes, reports Jim O'Neil, safety specialist for the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"A car battery can become a highly explosive bomb," O'Neil warns. "The colder the weather, the weaker the batteries become and the more likely the chance they won't respond when needed."

"Re-energizing a dead battery can lead to serious injuries, especially when proper starting procedures are not followed."

"Still, most drivers tend to ignore the dangers involved and, with 120 million drivers registered in the U.S., this is no small problem."

Explosions can and do occur when an open flame is used to check battery water level, and when emergency starting cables and rapid-charging devices are misused. Flying debris also takes a heavy toll.

Filled with a mixture of sulfuric acid and water, car batteries generate hydrogen gas which is easily ignited. A spark or flame near this dangerous gas can produce a blast forceful enough to send battery acid and fragments flying.

"The careless motorist using a match or cigarette lighter to peek into battery filler ports is really asking for trouble," O'Neil says.

Cleaning battery terminals poses another danger, should corrosion deposits scraped or chipped off get into the eyes.

Drivers are reminded to keep hands away from the eyes after contact with battery corrosion; it can cause severe chemical burns.

Immediate, continuous flushing of the eyes with water for 15 minutes is recommended should battery corrosion or acid get into the eyes. Then see a doctor, O'Neil advises.

In an effort to minimize the risk of injury during battery jumping, the Society recommends this step-by-step procedure:

—Extinguish all cigarettes and pocket all matches and lighters.

—Position the cars so the jumper cables will reach both the batteries, but do not allow the vehicles to touch.

—Turn off the ignition and accessories in both cars, put the shift lever in the park or neutral position, and set the emergency brake.

—Remove caps from both batteries to vent dangerous gases, and check for ice in the battery water. DO NOT JUMP START A FROZEN BATTERY.

—Be sure the booster battery and the dead battery are the same voltage. (12-volt batteries generally have six filler ports, while 6-volt batteries usually have only three ports. Tractors and other power farm vehicles and some imported cars may require special starting procedures; follow manufacturer's instructions.)

1. Connect one jumper cable clamp to the positive (+) pole of the dead battery, and the other end of the same cable to the positive (+) pole of the booster battery.

2. Connect the second cable to the negative (-) pole of the booster battery, clamping the other end to the engine block of the car with the dead battery, on the side away from the battery.

3. Start the car with the good battery; then the disabled car.

TEACHERS' CENTER SESSIONS POSTPONED

Aging, arts, cities, science to be topics

A series of radio programs on the humanities and social sciences is being broadcast on WSIE-FM (88.7) for the first three months of this year. The station is located on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Robert Ashpole, assistant professor of sociology, will direct "Aging in America" Jan. 22, Feb. 26 and March 26 at 5 p.m.

"Readings in Poetry and Prose" will be broadcast Jan. 29 at 5 p.m. and Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature readings of poetry of late Denny Cady by Garry Murphy, assistant professor of English language and literature, and Jules Zanger, professor in the department.

Edward Hudlin, assistant professor of philosophical studies, will be the moderator for "Issues in Public Philosophy," Feb. 5 and March 5 at 5 p.m.

"America's Cities," under the leadership of Carl Lossau, professor of earth sciences, geography and planning, will be heard Feb. 7 and March 7 at 7:30 p.m.

"Conversations in the Arts and Humanities" will be broadcast Feb. 12 and 19 and March 12 and 19 at 5 p.m. Paul Guenther, professor of foreign languages and literature, will serve as moderator.

On Feb. 14 and March 14, "Politics Today" will be broadcast at 7:30 p.m. The program will be under the direction of David Schwartz, assistant professor of government and public affairs.

"Writers of America" will be aired Feb. 14 and March 14 beginning at 8 p.m. Moderator will be Barbara Schmidt, assistant professor of English language and literature.

James Haas, professor of historical studies, and Wayne Santoni, assistant professor of historical studies, will be directors in the broadcast of "Topics in Western Civilization." The program will be presented Jan. 24, Feb. 20 and 27, and March 20 and 27 at 7:30 p.m.

"Science and Society" will be the topic for the Feb. 21 and March 21 broadcasts beginning at 8 p.m. Annette Baich, professor of biological sciences, will serve as moderator.

KSD (55) St. Louis will broadcast two SIUE humanities programs during the next three months. "Exploring St. Louis" will be broadcast Feb. 19 and March 19 at 10:05 p.m. "Image

Underpass area delays two trucks

Traffic heading toward St. Louis on Broadway in Venice at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday was delayed due to two oil trucks failing to climb an incline coming out of the Broadway underpass near traffic signals. Monday's snow had continued Monday night. Thomas Fields, McKinley Bridge manager said, "Traffic was tied up for about 20 minutes until the street department could get more elders to help the trucks make it up the rise in the street."

"An 11-inch snow causes problems for us as it does everyone else, but we had things going fairly well by 8 a.m. Tuesday with the help of the street department and the bridge employees, plus the police. It is the incline on the approaches that cause us the most problems," he noted.

St. Louis-bound traffic was backed up from the underpass past the Venice City Hall during the Tuesday morning rush hour.

Services held for Mrs. Leas

Services were held Monday at a Granite City funeral home for Mrs. Matilda "Tillie" Johnson Leas, 82, formerly of 2207 Kirkpatrick Homes.

She died Jan. 12 at the Colonial Nursing Home, Maryville, where she had resided for one year.

Mrs. Leas was born in Nameoki Township and was a lifelong resident of the local area. She was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church, the Naomi Ruth Class at the church and Juana Rebekah Lodge 477. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Estelle) Monken of Granite City, and three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Burial was at Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Energy conservation show planned here Jan. 28-29

Illinois Power Company has scheduled a two-day energy conservation show in the Granite City service area for Saturday, Jan. 28, and Sunday, Jan. 29, at the new Granite City Township Building, Delmar Avenue and 21st Street.

Hours for the energy show will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 28 and from noon until 5 p.m. Jan. 29.

William E. Warren, Illinois Power vice-president, said the show is designed to illustrate and advise customers what they can do to immediately begin conserving energy.

Using energy wisely has been a goal and continues to be a key goal of Illinois Power, Warren stressed. Insulation, weather stripping and caulking are among the subjects which will be shown and discussed by the Granite City IP service area energy use specialists and other company specialists.

Carl E. Mathias, manager of the local service area, will host the show. Warren noted that the utility has been carrying on an intensive energy conservation campaign through advertising and personal calls at customers' residences. As part of this overall campaign, the show will advise customers on what they can do to reduce energy use, such as turning down thermostats, wearing sweaters or heavier clothing, installing caulking, weather stripping and insulation, and following conservation tips on use of fireplaces.

Up-to-date maintenance information for gas heating systems will be reviewed. Literature concerning this and other topics will be available to take home, company officials said.

A film produced by Illinois Power on insulation, showing where and how much insulating material to install, all will be part of the energy conservation show.

2,000 phones added in Quad-Cities in '77; $1.7 million Illinois-Bell buying, payroll here

Illinois Bell calls 1977 a year of strong growth, progress in service, and continued cost pressures.

Ken Evers, Illinois Bell's manager in Granite City, said yesterday the company spent a record $467 million during the year — $1.33 million a day — on the construction of new and modernized telephone equipment and to care for customer moves and the replacement of worn-out equipment.

It was the eighth straight year that construction costs topped $1 million a day.

Illinois activities in Granite City were highlighted this year by an open house held at the company's Edison Avenue building.

Persons visiting the facility got a close look at the latest in Bell System electronic equipment which has brought to the local community the most advanced service available.

Telephones in service grew to an estimated year-end total of 7,826,400, an increase of 376,000 from last year.

In the Granite City-Quad-City community there are 45,800 telephones, an increase of 2,860.

Meanwhile, the total number of Illinois Bell employees dropped more than 200 to 37,000, reflecting continued efficiency improvements and employee productivity.

But total employee wage and benefit costs increased nearly 7.5 percent to $877.6 million, mainly as a result of new labor agreements.

In the face of these and other cost pressures, the company was "severely disappointed" last May when the Illinois Commerce Commission granted only $8.9 million a year out of $10 million rate increases which the company had sought in 1976.

President Charles Marshall called the commission's decision "far short of the money needed" to catch up with inflation-caused cost increases.

Citing the record, the company pointed out that basic monthly rates have not changed since 1974, and that telephone rates on average had risen only about one-third as much as the Consumer Price Index since 1967.

In August, Illinois Bell reached new three-year labor agreements with six union organizations representing about 25,400 telephone employees in Illinois.

The contracts provided for overall wage and benefit increases of about 25 percent and will add an estimated $220 million to Illinois Bell's labor costs over the life of the contracts.

Beginning in June, Illinois Bell introduced a whole new way to shop for telephone service — the PhoneCenter Store.

In these stores, customers can see and try the wide variety of telephones and services now available for home users.

And customers whose homes are equipped for plug-in phones can save time and $6 or more in service charges by carrying home the telephone of their choice, Marshall said.

A mini-store is planned in Granite City this year.

By the end of 1978, Illinois Bell expects to have 80 stores in operation, making PhoneCenter Store shopping available to most Illinois Bell customers.

The company feels it made big strides in communications technology. In May, the world's first full-service lightweight communications system went into service for a one-year experiment in Chicago.

The system carries computer signals, video signals and ordinary telephone calls on beams of light through glass fibers about the thickness of a human hair.

At year-end, the experimental system was performing perfectly, and similar systems may be in commercial service by the 1980s.

The company also began work on a new high-capacity mobile telephone in the Chicago metropolitan area, with trials to begin in 1978.

The new system uses a cluster of low-powered radio stations and a sophisticated electronic switching system which assigns a call to the radio station able to provide the clearest telephone conversation.

The new system could provide economical and readily available mobile service comparable in quality, accessibility and privacy to regular telephone service, Illinois Bell is convinced.

The company also observed 50th anniversary celebrations of three now-familiar technological developments: the first transatlantic telephone call from Chicago, the first long-distance television transmission which carried live pictures of Herbert Hoover to New York from Washington, D.C., and the first sound motion picture, "The Jazz Singer." Bell System scientists and engineers played a leading role in all three.

In late October, the Federal Communications Commission's "registration" program took effect, allowing customers to connect their own single line telephones without protective connecting arrangements.

The company said the program gives customers a choice of retaining Illinois Bell telephones or providing their own registered instruments and assuming responsibility for maintenance.

It was also an active year for other units of the Bell System, including the Illinois offices of Western Electric, Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Long Lines Department of American Telephone & Telegraph.

Total Bell System expenditures in Illinois, including wages, taxes and purchases, exceeded two billion dollars.

In the Granite City community, these payments totaled $1,700,222.

McKendree to honor founders

A nationally known speaker and orchestra will highlight the ninth annual McKendree College Founders Day dinner Feb. 11.

The dinner will have special significance this year, because it marks the beginning of the 150th anniversary of the college's founding.

To be held at Augustine's Restaurant, Belleville, the Sesquicentennial Founders Day dinner and dance will kick off the year-long anniversary celebration.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland will deliver the keynote address. Scheduled to perform following the program, the Buddy Moreno Orchestra will feature both the sounds of the "big band era" and more contemporary music.

A pictorial essay, commemorating McKendree's sesquicentennial, will be presented to each guest at the dinner as a special gift from the college.

The public is invited to attend the semi-formal dinner and dance at Augustine's. Interested persons may contact the McKendree College public relations office toll free at 800-682-3073 for reservations and information.

Wrench thrown through window

A tire lug wrench was thrown through a front window at the home of Charles Jungels, 1531 Lindell Blvd., at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday, missing Jungels by inches.

He was seated near the window and could be seen from the outside.

He ran outside and saw someone enter the passenger side of a green or gray fastback and throw a large tailgait on each side. The car left toward Namekiki Road.

A trail of footprints in his yard went to near the window and back to the street.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Crippen.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William Helvey of Poplar Bluff, Mo. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mildred Adams, 2825 Denver St.

Escorted to the altar by her stepfather, the bride chose a full length white satin gown designed with long sleeves accented with lace motifs, etched with pearls, a full skirt and lace chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was edged in pearls and secured to a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses intermingled with baby's breath.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Kay Varrey of Chicago, served as honor attendant.

The groom chose Earl Adams as best man.

A reception was held at Doris's Cafe, 1828 State St. after the service, hosted by Miss Doris Kaiser and the employees of the cafe.

A graduate of Granite City High School South, the former Miss Slone also graduated from Granite City School of Beauty Culture and Illinois Technical School. She was employed at Cut and Curl Beauty Salon, until her marriage.

The newly married couple left Wednesday for Aberdeen, Md., where they will reside for 10 weeks while the groom attends Turbot Mechanical Training School. They will then be stationed at Fort Hood, Tex.

Among those attending the ceremony were the bride's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Adams, Mrs. Varrey of Chicago and Mrs. Cheryl Morton of Columbus, Ohio, the bride's sisters, James Morton of Columbus, Michael Barnhart of Chicago, a brother of the bride, Randal K. Adams, a stepbrother of the bride, and his fiancée Miss Donna Hamilton.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hileman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Collard, Bruce and Robert Snyder of Granite City.

High School South, the former Miss Slone also graduated from Granite City School of Beauty Culture and Illinois Technical School. She was employed at Cut and Curl Beauty Salon, until her marriage.

The groom attended South High School and served 10 years in the U.S. Army. He was working at R&H Machine Shop, St. Louis, and has enlisted in the Army.

Escorted to the altar by her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Adams, Mrs. Varrey of Chicago and Mrs. Cheryl Morton of Columbus, Ohio, the bride's sisters, James Morton of Columbus, Michael Barnhart of Chicago, a brother of the bride, Randal K. Adams, a stepbrother of the bride, and his fiancée Miss Donna Hamilton.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hileman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Collard, Bruce and Robert Snyder of Granite City.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH BRIDGES. They were married in an evening ceremony at St. John Lutheran Church. The bride is the former Miss Kathy J. Burris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Burris, 2180 Harrison Ave.

Bridges-Burris wedding at St. John Lutheran

Miss Kathy J. Burris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Burris, 2180 Harrison Ave., and Kenneth G. Bridges, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Bridges, 2913 Marshall Ave., exchanged wedding vows on Nov. 18 at St. John Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Samuel L. Boda performed a double ring candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m.

Ray Scott sang, "Color My Heart," "Evergreen," "The Wedding Song," "Beautiful" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Alan Bogovich.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length white organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice with a high neckline and long sleeves accented with Alencon lace motifs, etched with seed pearls.

The semi full skirt and chapel train were bordered with a lace trim. Her fingertip veil of Alencon lace was attached to a lace Juliet cap and she held a bouquet of yellow and white roses and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Cheryl Davis and bridesmaids Miss Laura Burris, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Cheryl Hanley, Miss Rebecca Baron and Miss Brenda Wadlow were dressed alike.

Each attendant wore a halo of yellow roses and baby's breath in their hair and they held a single long stem yellow rose.

Alison Dumoulin served as the flower girl. She wore a long white empire style frock created in sata peau with white floral motifs applied on the bodice and skirt. She carried a white basket filled with fall flowers and sea cruise with the Illinois State Medical Society.

The Caribbean cruise began in 1952 led by Sue Worlen, troop 389 with Norine Noel, troop 778 leaders Donna Teachener and Allene Milton, troop 728 leaders Nancy Sanders and Charlene Sanders and troop 784 led by Janis Smith.

Logan School troop 103 and a junior troop under the leadership of Jeanette Matthews.

Troops 326 with Ruth Vernoy and troop 11 with Lynda Bollinger from Emerson School and St. Joseph's School troops 57 with Tyona Kamadulski, troop 891 under the direction of Barbara Boyer and troop 776 with leader Joceen Vureck.

McKinley School was represented by troop 621 led by Dawn Oliver and Donna Lemons, and troop 591 with leaders Joanna Warren and Norma Ferie. Also attending was troop 144 under the direction of Norma Walton.

Dedication Sunday of City Temple
City Temple Assembly of God Church, 4751 Maryville Road, will hold its formal dedication ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 22, featuring visiting ministers and special musical programs, according to the Rev. Eugene Cope, host pastor.

Sunday school will be held at 9:45 a.m. with a morning worship at 10:45 a.m.

Guest Assemblies of God ministers who will participate in the afternoon observance include the Rev. Larry Griswold of Macouba, the Rev. Richard Dorch, Illinois District Superintendent of the Assemblies of God, from Carlinville, Ill., and the Rev. Marvin Fulk of Normal, Ill.

Special music at 10:45 a.m. service and at the dedication ceremonies will be presented by Tim and Cheryl Dewey of Nashville, Tenn.

Dennis Mize, cousins of the groom, Scott Squires, Joe Huffman, an uncle of the groom, and Mike Clark, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Pamela Elam, a cousin of the bride, presided over the guest book at a reception held at the Polish Hall in Madison.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the church hall on the evening preceding the ceremony.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Burris selected a formal A-line orange chiffon gown complemented with a cocoa brown cape.

Mrs. Bridges, the groom's mother, was attired in a long Qiana dress featuring a white chiffon insert on the bodice and A-line skirt. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

A 1975 graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride is now employed at McDonnell Douglas, St. Louis. The groom graduated in 1973 from South High School and also graduated from Belleville Area College. He attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is now working for National Lead Industries.

They are residing in Granite City.

MR. AND MRS. GIORGINI whose wedding was solemnized at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Formerly Miss Joyce Elizabeth Huelskamp, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Huelskamp, 2720 Edwards St.

Joyce Huelskamp becomes Mrs. Frank G. Giorgini

Miss Joyce Elizabeth Huelskamp of Edwardsville, and Frank Giles Giorgini of Long Island, N.Y., were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony, on Jan. 7, at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Huelskamp, 2720 Edwards St. Parents of the groom are Dr. and Mrs. Gino L. Giorgini, 40 Verrazano Ave., Copiague, Long Island, N.Y. Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock was the Rev. James Hill. Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Huelskamp wore a full length winter white gown. She also wore a wreath of tiny red roses and white carnations in her hair. Mrs. Lois J. Gaffke, a sister of the bride, served as honor attendant. She selected a mauve color formal length dress and she held a single long stem white rose. Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Dr. Gino L. Giorgini Jr. A reception was held in the church hall following the service. The newly married couple took a wedding trip to Bonaire, Netherlands Antilles in the Caribbean, and will be at home in Freehold, N.Y., at the end of January. A 1971 graduate of Granite City High School South, the bride also graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a B.A. degree in Spanish Language and Literature. The groom received a M.F.A. degree from SIUE and a Bachelor of Industrial Design degree at Pratt Institute of Art and Design.

Thorngate retains officers

The current officers of the Thorngate Garden Club were reelected to serve for the ensuing year at the January club meeting. Officers for the 1978 season include: Mrs. Helen Polley, president; Mrs. June Lux, vice-president; Mrs. Wanda Kincaid, secretary; and Mrs. Lillian Delp, treasurer. Mrs. Beula Miller was hostess for the initial meeting. Tables were decorated in a winter scene and each one present received a pet rock of different animals as a favor. After the luncheon Mrs. Lux presided in the absence of the president, who is visiting in California. Each one answered the roll call with a New Year's resolution. The February project is to visit a nursing home in Edwardsville, it was noted.

Mrs. Paladin is club hostess

Christmas activities of each member of the Mother's Study Club was the topic of a program conducted Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Lorraine Paladin. Those winning prizes for the evening were Mesdames Chrystal Stach, Dorothy Bridick, Helen Ann McGarrahan and Helen Tonoff. Others attending were Mesdames Marion Ropac, Marie Planitz, Doris Harizal, Frances Lux and Peggy Crnkovich.

DNRs hears Rep. James McPike

State Representative (D) James McPike of Alton, Ill., president of the organization, conducted the business session. He announced tentative plans for the annual May house tour and appointed chairmen and committees to continue the arrangements for the fund raising project.

Linda Grooms and her brother Gary Edgington will enter the 1978 Easter Seal Disco Dance on the DNRs as one of their sponsors, it was announced.

The benefit will begin at 3 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 28, at the Roadway Inn, 2600 Market St., St. Louis. Spectators are welcome and tickets will cost $1 per person, it was noted.

The president urged all members to attend the Energy Conservation show at the Granite City Township Hall, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue on Jan. 28 and 29th, sponsored by the Illinois Power Co. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, 2242 Delmar Ave. Anyone interested in information about the DNRs are advised to call Carl Kittel at 431-7886 or Gene Favier at 876-0744.

Fifth birthday of Brian Buske

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buske Jr., 120 Warsaw Lane, entertained guests at a party and buffet luncheon, in honor of the fifth birthday of their son, Brian Paul Buske, this week.

Those attending included the honoree's sister, Lisa Renee, and Mrs. Ralph Buske Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gary Drussell and daughters, Kimberly and Shelley, Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Holten, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hucks and sons, Jerry Jr. and Christopher, Florence Holten, William Gwinn, Mrs. Margaret Dannenberg, Karen Dannenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schewe.

Jill Donley gives club demonstration

Jill Donley gave a demonstration of several crafts of modern bottle design and seed flower arrangement at a weekend meeting of the Fair Oaks Junior Garden Club.

Members met in the home of Monica McAmish, 3200 College Place. Roll call was answered by each member who recited her New Year's resolution.

A macrame course will be given at the March meeting, it was noted. Welcomed as new members were Beth Bodman and Sissy McAmish.

Others attending were Bradley Busch, Mary and Craig Cavins, Joel Donley, Darren Frech, Jennifer Griffith, Michelle McAmish, Mrs. Judy Donley and Mrs. Clara Winter. The February session is scheduled to be held in the home of Bradley Busch, 4600 D'Ynn Drive.

Gateway Quartet entertains here

The Gateway Sounds Quartet of the Sweet Adelines from Collinsville, presented a program of southern songs at the first senior organizational meeting in the Granite City Township Hall of the American Association of Retired Persons, Inc., Granite City Chapter 1340.

Members of the quartet, who received second place honors in competition in Chicago, were gowned as southern belles, complementing their program theme.

After the entertainment, installation ceremonies for the new officers and board members was conducted by David Morgan, executive director of the Granite City Housing Authority, and honorary member of the local chapter.

The 1978 officers include Mrs. Elma Hoover, president; Mrs. Ruby Corbett, vice president; Mrs. Neva Werthe, secretary; Edna Isham, treasurer; directors Oscar Ash, Peggy Gibbons, Carrie Hart, Charles Kelly, Augusta Lampe, Vina Law, Alvina Rankin, Grace Range, Kathryn Smith.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer and pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Hoover extended appreciation to all who served as guests of various committees during 1977.

Those appointed to serve as chairmen for the forthcoming season are: Caroline Lux, Orville Riess, Rebecca Parish, Augusta Lampe, Kate Smith, Clara Schilling, Peggy Gibbons, Alvina Rankin, Charles Kelly, Grace Range, Georgia Butler, Carrie Hart, Vina Law, Ruby Corbett, Oscar Ash, Helen Bertacchi and Arthur Lindner.

After birthdays were celebrated and prizes awarded a surprise musical program was presented by Arthur Bertacchi and Robert Lambert who played guitars. Dancing was enjoyed to this music and later to the juke box.

Refreshments were also served during the evening.

Full accreditation for dental school

The School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has again been granted full accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation of Dental and Dental Auxiliary Educational Programs of the American Dental Association (ADA).
In a letter to SUE President Kenneth A. Shaw, the ADA commission said that following an in-depth review of the report on the dental education program submitted by SUE, the commission adopted a resolution to continue the "approval" accreditation of the dental program.
The SUE dental school was fully accredited in May 1975 after only three years of operation. This approval was granted before the first graduation of dentists from the school.
Commenting on the ADA announcement, President Shaw said, "I am pleased but surprised. We have an outstanding program in dental medicine and I am delighted in receiving the recognition it deserves."

Joining the president in praising the Dental School program, Vice-President and Provost Earl Lazerson said, "I am pleased at the recognition accorded by the Commission on Accreditation. This 'approval' accreditation is a well-deserved tribute to the dedicated work of the faculty, staff and students of the School of Dental Medicine."

Dr. V. Valiuff, acting dean of the SUE School of Dental Medicine, said the achievements of SUE dental graduates are an indication of "the high quality of education they receive" at the university. "The performance of our students on the National Board Exams has consistently been in the upper 50 percent of all dental schools in the country... at times within the upper 20 percent," Dr. Valiuff said. "On the Northeast Regional Board examinations, which are clinical, our students have been well above the national average."

One hundred and two dentists have received degrees in the three graduating classes of the school.
Most of them are practicing in Illinois or are in the armed forces or public health service.

March state primary election races begin to stir interest

Press-Record Springfield Bureau—Not as exciting as in 1976, but interesting nevertheless. That's the Statehouse view of the upcoming 1978 Illinois primary campaign, which comes to a climax on election day March 21.

The completion of the filing process set the stage for the primary contests, with serious campaigning due to start soon.

It probably will be years before there is any primary battle to match the bitter struggle of 1976, when then Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett beat incumbent Gov. Dan Walker in the Democratic primary. That was one for history.

There is a Democratic contest for the governor nomination this year, but no one is taking it too seriously. Perennial candidate Dakin Williams is challenging the organization choice, state Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis.

However, professional politicians will be watching carefully to see how well Bakalis runs in various areas of the state, including the Chicago wards.

Bakalis enters the governor's race as one of the most decided underdogs in recent Illinois political history. The consensus in state political circles is to give him about as much chance against Republican incumbent James R. Thompson as Alf Landon had against Franklin Roosevelt.

Somewhere along the line Bakalis is going to have to climb out of the political cellar and convince, first his own party and then the voting public, that he is a serious contender.

The primary push with Williams might be helpful in this regard.

Should Bakalis clobber Williams in grand style it would indicate to skeptics that the Democrats do consider him a genuine threat to Thompson and are determined to make a sincere effort in his behalf.

By the same token, if Williams should make a surprisingly strong showing, then clouds of doom that presently hover over the Democrats would thicken and even the most faithful would lose hope.

A similar situation prevails in the Democratic primary for U.S. senator, where Chicago attorney Alex Seith, like Bakalis, was clearly a second or third choice of the party adherents.

Seith has to dispose of the persistent and apparently well-financed R. Martin-Trigona. Seith, who spent half-year trying to convince party leaders he could beat Republican incumbent Charles H. Percy, needs a big victory over Martin-

Trigona to raise his own stature to that of a serious candidate.

Seith, again like Bakalis, must do something to activate his political afterburner and climb into fighter's range with Percy.

The primary could offer an opportunity. But if Seith makes a poor or mediocre showing against Martin-Trigona, the party leaders are likely to be convinced they were right in the first place and write off his try against Percy as hopeless.

Races for comparatively minor statewide offices are stirring unique interest, especially on the Democratic side. Organization choices for comptroller and treasurer are being challenged in what could signal the end of the traditional Democratic slate-making process.

Endorsed candidate Jerome Cosentino of Chicago, for treasurer, has opposition from Nina Shepherd of Winnetka. In the comptroller's race, organization candidate Roland W. Burris, also of Chicago, is opposed by state Rep. Richard Luft of Peoria.

The two races represent a direct Chicago versus Downstate face-off. Because there are far more Democratic primary voters in Chicago than Downstate, Cosentino and Burris are favored.

But if Nina Shepherd or Luft come close, not to mention winning, significance for the future would be profound.

Republicans, too, have contests for these two offices.

In the comptroller's race, Thompson has stuck his neck out in his first attempt, exerting political leverage within the party by backing protégé Joun W. Castle of DeKalb against former House Speaker W. Tuesday Schaefer.

Blair is attempting to turn the race into a major test between him and the governor. Should Blair win or come close, Thompson's prestige would suffer and presidential prospects could be weakened. But the odds favor a substantial Castle win.

The other Republican contest—for state treasurer—matches two popular and respected party figures, state Sen. Bradley Glass of Northfield and Champaign County Treasurer James Skelton.

Both Glass and Skelton are in their own way as far as most party leaders are concerned. It should be a friendly contest.

The 1978 primary will not be as dramatic as that in 1976, but it could provide some clues as to what may lie ahead in the fall campaign.

Concern on crossings, 'nomad' status

To the Editor:

I must reply to the Granite City School District administration's statements that the parents opposed to the closing of Stallings School for safety reasons. One reason is safety. In most cases, the children will be bused twice the present distance or more.

The increased distance is a major safety concern. If anyone could tell me the crossing of unguarded railroad crossings, as will be the case for children attending Lake and Namecki Schools.

The main reason for opposing the closing is the busing of children from Stallings to schools in Granite City that have enrollment declines.

I believe that the school administration could close a school in Granite City, shift school boundaries, have no additional busing and still achieve the class sizes desired.

The school administration has been doing this for quite some time. Why not now? What will happen in the future if enrollment declines further? Will these children be bused to still another school?

Will they become nomads within the school district? I believe our children are entitled to a better future than this.

The administration also says that the school's age is the reason for Stallings being considered for closing.

There are five schools that were built prior to 1926 when Stallings was built. If age is the reason, why not Emerson, which was built in 1897, or one of the four others?

The school board members vote to close Stallings School, I believe that they will be derelict in their duties to safeguard and protect the school district assets.

They will have closed and declared excess a school better equipped and in better condition than many other schools in the district.

squad car, so police helped him into the car.

While police were taking Fr. O'Neill to custody, the picketers shouted and asked what he had done to be "carted off by the police."

After leaving the clinic, the picketers then assembled in front of the police headquarters, carrying signs with anti-abortion slogans and pictures.

The priest had distributed statements in which he likened U.S. Supreme Court rulings to authorization to "kill babies."

He asserted, "I believe that God makes the little babies. I believe He doesn't want them to be killed."

Charge burglary

The Madison County state's attorney's office has issued an informational document charging Michael Matyski, 19, of 2153 Robert Ave., with burglary.

He is alleged to have broken into the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave., Dec. 27; officers responding to an alarm believed Matyski was crawling out a rear window.

American Heritage Bank has record year of growth in '77

"The year 1977 was the largest 'growth of assets' year for the American Heritage Bank," announced Walter D. Karandjeff, chairman and president, at the bank's annual stockholder meeting held Wednesday afternoon.

Karandjeff attributed the growth to several factors: the addition of new personnel; the strategic location of the bank; the addition of new services; and the extension of existing services.

He said, "In order to better serve our customers and the financial needs of the community, we have taken numerous steps. Among these are the bringing of new employees to the bank who can give greater depth to our banking service, and the instituting of new services such as

'Bank-By-Phone' and 'The Club.'"

"American Heritage Bank is the first in the area to offer its customers a package banking program. The Club program, for a nominal $3 per month service charge, gives the customer numerous services, including: no-charge checking; personalized checks; $10,000 accidental death insurance; cashier's checks, money orders and travelers' checks with no service charge; and discounts on travel and lodging.

"The response to 'The Club' has exceeded our greatest expectations."

Karandjeff continued, "We at American Heritage will continue to seek out newer and better methods of serving our customers. In the final analysis, it is the continued loyalty and support of our customers that has made the bank the success that it is."

Announcement was made of the re-election of the bank's directors and officers. Directors re-elected were: Ernest R. Blockhaus, Dr. Apollo D. Karandjeff, Henry D. Karandjeff, Robert Henry Karandjeff, Paul H. Kelly, William M. Kozayak, Robert A. Maddox and Kiro Vasiloff.

Officers of the bank elected for 1978 were: Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman and president; Robert Henry Karandjeff, vice-president and cashier; Charles J. Varicovic, vice-president; Frank J. Palank, assistant vice-president; Helen Mangoff, assistant cashier; Darlene Palovechik, assistant cashier; and Jon R. Teague, assistant cashier.

Continued growth is noted at 1st National Bank in Madison

Deposits in the First National Bank in Madison showed an increase of $1,363,000 in 1977 over 1976, said John D. Gilcho, chairman of the board and president, noted at the bank held its annual shareholders' meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Re-elected as officers in addition to Gilcho were: Walter Stoen, executive vice president; John N. Belloff, assistant vice-president; James W. Foley, auditor; Margaret M. Stoen, treasurer; and public relations; Dorothy Szabo, cashier; and Sharon L. Jackson and Cecil Kowalczyk, both assistant cashiers.

Re-elected as bank directors were: Fred P. Schuman, Helen G. Eiler, William H. Aufderheide Jr., Gilcho, Blumenthal and Louis Lee.

"We have had a good year here at the bank," Gilcho said. "Despite some major problems in the area, namely inflation and loss of jobs — such as when Laclede Steel shut down in

Venice asks ambulances by county?

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

The City Council of Venice at its Tuesday evening meeting approved a motion by Alderman Tyrone Echols to demand that ambulance service be provided or organized by Madison County.

Echols said, "I move that a demand be made upon the county to assume its statutory responsibility to provide or organize ambulance service in the county for the welfare of the citizens of Venice and the county."

The action was taken after Venice, along with other local cities and townships, was notified at a Jan. 9 meeting that the Granite City municipal ambulance service would be discontinued March 15, no longer provide the service outside the city limits unless an agreement for payment can be reached.

After March 15, Granite City taxes will be the sole support of the ambulance service, other than fees collected. It was maintained at the Jan. 9 meeting that it would not be legal for Granite City taxpayers to subsidize ambulance service to outlying areas.

A federal Manpower grant has provided funds to help operate the ambulance service until March 15.

"I would like for our city clerk and attorney to get in touch right away with the County Board and see what they plan to do, and we will discuss this situation in detail at the next Venice council meeting," Mayor William M. Ebersoldt said.

Two hurt on I-270

Two men were injured when the auto of Chavali Arunatnam, Chicago, skidded into a ditch at the edge of westbound lanes of Interstate 270 near Route 203 and was struck by the auto of Charles Peters, Breese, Ill., which also skidded on the ice Monday.

Two passengers in Arunatnam's auto were taken by Illinois state troopers to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

Supunt Senamontri, 38, Iola, Ill., suffered a head injury and pain to his chest but declined to be admitted for observation.

Sasyn Nipitornasate, 25, Chantale, Kan., was treated for contusions and abrasions to his chin and was released after x-rays were taken.

Robert L. Bennett has been elected president of S. M. Wilson & Co. general and industrial contractors, Granite City, it was announced today by the company's board of directors.

Formerly senior vice-president, Bennett has been with S. M. Wilson & Co. since 1957.

Newly appointed vice-presidents are Martin R. Siglock, G. R. Stocker and Wayne M. Hellemeyer.

S. M. Wilson & Co. celebrates its 75th anniversary this year.

Group forced to move

To the Editor:

AID, Inc., of Collinsville (a group fighting alcohol and drug abuse) is forced to relocate by Feb. 1 because the facility we now occupy has been sold.

We are operating on a very limited budget and have not been able to find a facility to meet our needs.

We would like at least four rooms in Collinsville and cannot afford to pay more than $100 per month rent. We would appreciate any help that you or your readers could give us in locating a new facility.

If anyone could give us information that would be helpful to us in finding a new facility, we can be contacted at 345-5200 Wednesday through Friday from 6 p.m. to 12 midnight and Sunday from 4 to 9 p.m.

Destructive hit-and-run

To the Editor:

We are writing this letter in the hope that the person that dented the left front fender of our son's '69 Dodge, and didn't notify us, will realize the consequences of their action went further than the amount of the damage incurred.

Our son is a senior in high school and worked hard during the summer to earn money to buy the car.

It was parked in front of our home, and we believe the accident occurred Saturday night. He had just finished mowing some repairs earlier, part of which resulted from an accident that wasn't his fault. He is proud of the way the car looks.

This, in our opinion, is setting a poor example for young people to follow.

Venice Crippled Children's benefit ball

The Venice Crippled Children's Organization will hold its 40th annual crippled children's benefit ball on Saturday evening, Jan. 28, at the Venice-Madison American Legion home, 740 Broadway, Venice.

The public ball traditionally helps to support work at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, the Shriners' Bum Center and the Organization for Aid to the Handicapped (OATH), among other groups. Tickets costing $2 each currently are available from most Venice residents, or may be obtained at the door on the night of the dance. Jack Tolliver is ticket chairman. Music for dancing will be furnished from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. by Andy Sherwood's Orchestra. The band has been featured at the Roseland and Dreamland ballrooms in Los Angeles, the Flame Supper Club in San Diego, Ramada Inns, the Carousel Lounge and the Casa Loma Ballroom. Band members also performed as the studio orchestra for the former Charlotte Peters television show.

Theme of this year's dance is "Charlie Brown's Gang." Serving as co-chairmen of the decorating committee are Marsha Byrnes and Jerry Schodroff. In addition to the ball, the Venice organization also is planning a "road block" project from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 28, at Broadway and Klein Street. Seeking donations from passing motorists will be members of the Venice volunteer fire department and Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307, under the leadership of Bill Meenan and Ray Freeman. "Question mark" contribution canisters also may be seen at area business places. Pete Wilkinson and Harold Koelker Jr. are responsible for

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD distribution and collection of the canisters. Refreshments at the ball will be under the supervision of Jack Lee and Tom Fields, with Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver as chairman of the cake committee. Others serving as chairmen of different committees for the ball, include: Tom Maier and Nina Payne, Thurs., Jan. 19, 1978 Page 24 games and prizes; Sybil Robbs, contest; George S. Koelker, books; Clifford Canner and John Mangiaracino, cloakroom; Daviavor, floor manager; Valeta Bauder, public relations; and Rosemary Cooper and Margaret Lee, booster committee.

Officers of the Venice Crippled Children's Organization are Milton Morris, president; Tom Fields, vice-president; Ed Foley, treasurer; and Roseann Koelker, secretary.

Backlog in compensation case appeals

Steve Maragides, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, said this week that if elected he would support legislation to enlarge the Illinois Industrial Commission from five to seven commissioners because the caseload of workmen's compensation hearings has "reduced that body to sham."

"The Industrial Commission is the agency that administers the Illinois Workmen's Compensation Act, and adjudicates compensation disputes between employers and employees, Maragides said. "The caseload is so large for the five commissioners that they are ignoring many cases to an extent that the commissioners are not even reading the hearing transcripts," he asserted.

Himself a workman's compensation lawyer for 11 years, Maragides explained the procedure as follows: "The initial workman's compensation hearing is heard by an arbitrator. If either the employer or employee is dissatisfied with the decision of the arbitrator, the dissatisfied party may seek a review — an appeal of his case by the commissioners."

"One of the members of the commission has confided to me privately that in many instances the transcripts of arbitration hearing are not even being read by the commissioner. "The effect of this is that the employer or employee paying the cost of having his case argued is not even getting the benefit of receiving a bonafide review."

"In many cases, the commissioners take the attitude that they do not have sufficient time to study a case and, therefore, have the feeling that the arbitrator knows more about the case than the commissioner does. So the commissioner merely rubber stamps his approval, affirming the arbitrator's decision. "The shortage of commissioners has also caused a backlog of hearings, so that many injured and disabled employees are required to wait months to receive their workman's compensation."

"I also would introduce language into the statute that would assign one of the new commissioners permanently and exclusively to downstate Illinois cases in order to handle the backlog of downstate cases. At present, all commissioners are home-based in Chicago and some make periodic sweeps into downstate Illinois to handle cases that accumulate here."

Maragides said the shortage of commissioners is further aggravated because there is one vacancy on the commission and another commissioner is incapacitated because of a heart attack. Thus, at present there are only three working commissioners, he contended.

Mrs. Marcus, 77, succumbs

Mrs. Helen Smith Marcus, 77, of 416 W. Davies St., Anna, Ill., formerly of Granite City, died at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Union County Hospital, Anna. Born in Union County, Ill., Mrs. Marcus had resided in this area for many years prior to moving to Anna, Ill. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church, Jonesboro, Ill. Her former husband, Cletus E. Smith, died Aug. 3, 1965. They were married on April 22, 1922. Survivors include her husband, Charles Marcus, who she married on April 4, 1970, in Jonesboro; one daughter, Mrs. Kay Michaels of O'Fallon, Mo.; three sisters, Mrs. Maude Kinder of Jonesboro and Miss Ann Rhodes and Mrs. Myrtle Boyd, both of Anna; two brothers, Bill Rhodes of Jonesboro and Sam Rhodes of Herrin, Ill.; and two grand-children. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

National Organization of Women president will talk here Jan. 31

Eleanor Smeal, president of NOW (National Organization for Women), will speak at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 8 p.m. in Meridian Hall.

Her lecture on the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) and related women's topics is being sponsored by the Issues and Ideas Committee of the University Center Board and by the Metro-East Chapter of NOW.

"Ellie" Smeal went from homemaking to newspaper headlines as the foremost ERA proponent when she was elected president of NOW last spring. The largest women's rights organization in the U.S., it has more than 70,000 members.

Mrs. Smeal, who was a full-time homemaker, wife and mother, was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Duke University in 1961 and received a master of arts degree in political science from the University of Florida in 1963. As an organizer and activist in the women's rights movement since 1970, she has lectured on a wide range of women's rights issues.

Among her achievements are: chair one on the national board of NOW, chairman of the NOW ERA Strike Force, board member of the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund, and President Jimmy Carter's appointee to serve on the International Women's Year Commission.

She has authored numerous articles and essays on the ERA, employment discrimination, homemakers, credit, "reproductive freedom," sexual preference, Social Security, marriage and divorce. She first became interested in women's rights and disability insurance for housewives in 1968 when she was confined to bed for a chronic back ailment. Her husband brought her books on feminism to keep her occupied during her long recuperation. With her recovery came a commitment to work for women's rights.

Mrs. Smeal's lecture is in conjunction with the observance of Alice Paul Day at SIUE.

Several area women leaders will receive Alice Paul achievement awards, which were established by the local NOW chapter in commemoration of the author of the ERA. Tickets for the Smeal lecture are $1 for SIUE students, $2 for non-students and $1.50 for non-student groups of 10 or more. It was announced at the SIUE ticket office (692-2320).

Vegetable growers' school

The 1978 Vegetable Growers School is scheduled for Jan. 25 and 26 at the Holiday Inn, Collinsville.

The program on Jan. 25 is on vegetable production while the program on Jan. 26 is on horseradish production. Registration for the program starts at 8:30 a.m. each day, with the program starting at 9 a.m.

"The latest changes in government rules and regulations" is a topic that will be discussed by Don Uchtmann, University of Illinois Extension agriculture lawyer. Bill Courter, U. of I. horticulturist, will cover vegetable varieties for 1978.

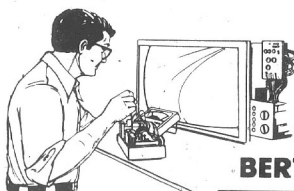

Other topics will include irrigating farm and vegetable crops, "Will sweet corn be okay in 1978?" and identifying vegetable insects, diseases and weeds.

The program on horseradish will cover weed control, a look at the variety program plus an update on horseradish.

Registration for the vegetable session is $8, which includes lunch, and the horseradish session is $1.

The program is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Illinois, and the Vegetable Growers Association in St. Clair, Monroe and Madison County.

Sled safety hints

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

For many, many years, sleds have been popular Christmas gifts for children. And, about this time of year, many children are out enjoying their Christmas sleds.

Unfortunately, some of them are also being injured in sledding accidents.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has some safety tips that may help your child avoid a sledding accident.

1. Make sure the sled is constructed well. It should not have split or splintered wood, or metal parts that are bent out of shape.

2. The sled should not have any sharp, jagged edges or protruding rivets.

3. It should have a protective guard or bumper over the metal front bar to prevent cuts and other injuries in case of a collision.

4. The sled should steer easily, without jamming.

5. It should have secure handholds and a place to tie on a rope.

When using the sled:

1. Walk over the sliding area before using it. Look for bumps, tree stumps, boulders, ice and bare spots. If these hazards cannot be removed or repaired, do not use that part of the slope.

2. Supervise children who are inexperienced in using a sled. Make sure their first sliding is done on short, gradual slopes that are not cluttered with debris or bumps.

3. Warn children not to push, shove or otherwise roughhouse while riding sleds.

4. Figure out ahead of time how to stop the sled or get off safely in an emergency. Learn how to roll sideways off the sled to lessen injury in case of a collision.

5. Do not slide through traffic intersections or across streets, even if there are no cars in sight. They can appear suddenly "out of nowhere."

6. Hold or tie the ropes on the top of the sled to keep them from slipping underneath and causing an abrupt stop.

7. Don't slide until the slope is clear of nearby sledgers.

8. Move off busy slopes quickly when you reach the bottom to prevent collision with other sledgers.

9. Walk back up the slope along a side path out of the way of those coming down.

10. Never tie a sled to the back of a car. When the automobile stops, the moving sled can easily slide under the car, causing serious injury to the person riding the sled.

If you want more information about sleds, toboggans or snow disks, write to: Illinois Department of Public Health, Product Safety Program, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill. 62761.

Rep. Keith Sebelius, a Kansas Republican serving on the House Agriculture Committee, has asked Committee Chairman Thomas Foley, D-Wash., to hold hearings on his bill providing 100 per cent parity for grain.

Rep. Dawson Mathis, D-Ga., another Agriculture Committee member, wants to move to 100 per cent parity for all commodities except tobacco.

A move to full parity would dwarf anticipated farm program spending which already exceeds earlier limits suggested by the Carter administration.

Raising target prices to 100 per cent of parity would cost an estimated $15 billion a year for just corn, wheat and cotton — and in excess of $50 billion of 100 per cent parity were extended to all commodities, an aide to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says.

The price supports, subsidies and other direct aid to farmers contained in the farm bill were price tagged at $6.3 billion.

But Senate Budget Committee Chairman Edmund

And that does not include Small Business Administration loans to farmers, food stamps, "Food for Peace" spending or other agricultural expenditures which put the total U.S. Department of Agriculture

The prospect of a primary election shake-up in the Illinois Congressional delegation is considered unlikely by Congressional and campaign staff sources here.

And the likelihood of the general election producing more than one or two changes in the House seats—now split 12-12 by Republicans and Democrats—is viewed as equally remote.

Only Republican Reps. John B. Anderson of Rockford and Robert McClory of Lake Bluff face serious challenges in the March 21 primary. Both are moderates facing conservative rivals.

The threat to Anderson posed by the Rev. Don Lyon is regarded as having more chance for success than the challenge to McClory posed by Elgin Mayor Richard Verbic.

The Anderson-Lyon race has become a test of whether or not the GOP will tolerate liberal views in the ranks of its leadership.

Anderson, the number three Republican in the House, has emerged as a national figure and spokesman for the moderate wing while becoming increasingly distant from his Northwestern Illinois district.

As one national Republican Congressional Committee source says, "It's not his liberalism per se; it's his liberalism vs. voting against it."

AUTO INSURANCE
CALL
SAM WOLF Realty, Inc.
877-2345

Anderson also made what was some consider a tactical error in criticizing the Republican right wing for not being more open in a speech to GOP moderate in Michigan in November.

The feeling is that he should be building bridges, not burning them.

Anderson rose just that he has refrained from attacks on the conservative, spent more time in the district, and sought help from such party notables as former President Gerald R. Ford and ex-secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

McClary's situation is a little different. He has a geographic edge since more Republican voters are located in the northern end of the Northeastern Illinois district than in the southern end where Verbic resides.

The Verbic campaign does not appear to be gathering momentum or substantial support from GOP leaders, who would prefer to defer the scramble for McClory's seat until he retires.

Age is a factor, as McClory is 69.

But McClory is one of the more active Illinois representatives, looks younger than his years and has avoided responding to Verbic's suggestion that it is time for him to step aside.

The advantages of incumbency make both Anderson and McClory the favorites, and their districts are so heavily Republican that a primary victory would be tantamount to re-election.

In the general election, Republicans have a shot at gaining one or two seats, and it

The best chances for Republican gains lie in the 10th District along Chicago's North Shore and in the 22nd District in Southeastern Illinois, a marginal district long the target of the GOP.

Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Evanston, was re-elected in the 10th District by only 201 votes in 1976, and seven Republicans are competing for the chance to take him on this time.

Rep. George Shipley, D-Olney, is vacating Congress after 20 years, and there are three contenders on both sides to see who will compete for the 22nd District seat.

State Sen. Terry Bruce and Robert Watson, Shipley's brother-in-law, are the prime contenders among the quartet.

State Rep. Roscoe Cunningham, R-Lawrenceville, is the favorite in the three-man GOP contest that includes the millionaire real-estate developer Gene Stunkel and dentist Dan Crane, both of Danville.

There's also a touch of political nepotism in the Republican primary. Crane is the brother of Rep. Philip Crane, R-Mil. Prospect, one of the leading conservative spokesmen in Congress.

Republicans have a strong shot at the seat in Chicago's Third District held by Rep. Martin Russo, D-Glencoe, who spent about $170,000 last time to win a second term with 59 per cent of

The only GOP seat viewed as possibly vulnerable is the 15th District seat held by Tom Corcoran, R-Ottawa. And his vulnerability stems largely from the fact that most of his

Q. What is SSI?
A. Supplemental security income (SSI) is a federal program that pays monthly checks to people in financial need who are 65 or older and to people in need at any age who are blind or disabled.

The aim of the program is to provide monthly checks where they are needed so that anyone who is 65 or older or blind or disabled can have a basic cash income—for one person, $177.80 a month ($167.80 before July 1977), and for a married couple $260.70 ($251.80 before July 1977).

This doesn't mean that every eligible person gets that much in his or her SSI check every month. Some people get less

Q. Who can qualify?
A. People who have little or no regular cash income and who do not own much in the way of real property or other things that can be turned into cash, such as stocks, bonds, jewelry or other valuables, may get SSI.

In addition, eligibility for checks based on blindness or disability depends on the severity of the applicant's condition.

To be considered disabled, a person must be unable to engage in substantial gainful work because of a physical or mental impairment which has lasted — (or is expected to last) — for at least 12 months or which can be expected to result

Blindness under the SSI program is defined as central visual acuity of 20-200 or less in the better eye with the use of a corrective lens or visual field restriction of 20 degrees or less. Even those who have never worked can be aided.

Security funds are not used for SSI checks.

People who get Social Security checks can get SSI checks, too, if they are eligible or both. But a person does not have to be eligible for Social Security to get SSI.

Q. How can I apply?

A. People who think they or someone they know may be eligible for SSI can apply, or get more information, by contacting any Social Security office.

6-month jail term ordered

Allen R. Henderson, 3039 Myrtle Ave., has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville to serve six months in the Madison County Jail for probation violation after pleading guilty to burglary and two felony counts of theft.

Henderson and Gwendal Jackson, 2219 Fourteenth St., allegedly stole a truck from Wilbur Waggoner Trucking Co., Madison, May 31, 1977, later pleading guilty to the crime. Jackson received the same sentence in November.

Henderson also pleaded guilty to burglary and theft for allegedly stealing a building of Carlos S. Smith, 1932 Hemlock Ave., Sept. 19, 1977, from Jackson, and stealing a telephone.

Circuit Judge Joseph Barr pronounced two sentences of three years probation and six months in the county jail for Henderson. The sentences will run concurrently.

Rail cooperation proposal

Standard gauge track and monetary woes are among the rail lines serving the Midwest have in common.

John Ingram sees no reason why Midwestern railroads should not share their physical resources to save their financial resources.

And federal aid in the form of loans and loan guarantees to rehabilitate track-beds would keep the arrangement rolling. Ingram is president of the Rock Island Railroad, which has been operating in bankruptcy for nearly three years.

He calls his idea "farm rail." It is basically a proposal to trim costs by allowing railroads to share their spideweb of tracks, rail yards and other facilities without violating federal anti-trust laws.

Ingram sketched his idea before a U.S. House Transportation Subcommittee hearing into why the Chicago, Milwaukee and Pacific Railroad went bankrupt.

He will outline in greater detail how the lines might share facilities at public meetings on rail problems being held through today at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams called the meetings under a provision of the Railroad Reform Law which allows such sessions to be held with immunity from anti-trust actions.

Taking part will be Adams, Federal Railroad Administration officials and representatives of the rail lines.

"It is only a concept now," said Chris Knapton, vice president for public relations for the Rock Island Railroad. "It does not involve corporate mergers — just corporate cooperation."

He said they are proposing a "joint consortium" of railroads that would include the Rock Island, appropriate lines of the bankrupt Milwaukee Railroad, the Iowa and South Dakota lines of the Illinois Central Gulf and possibly the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and the Kansas City Southern railroads.

"Because of the anti-trust laws, we have been staying away from having any substantive talks with them (the other lines)," Knapton said.

The voluntary response from the other lines has been guarded at best.

"We have run into a little bit of provincialism," Knapton said.

At the subcommittee hearing, a telegram was received by the chairman from an official of the Kansas City Southern which said, in effect, that the line was solvent and did not want to be included until it heard more about the proposition.

To be successful, Knapton said, "farm rail" will require the cooperation of railroads, railroad unions, state planning agencies and the Federal Railroad Administration.

The FRA has an appropriation of $1 billion for loan guarantees and $600 million for direct, low interest loans for railroad rehabilitation.

He said the FRA so far has approved loans and guarantees totaling less than $100 million.

There is no clear idea how much federal money would be needed because the specifics of the proposed cooperative venture are yet to be determined. Knapton said the sharing of facilities not only would improve railroads' financial situation but also could speed up shipments.

"We could serve just as many shippers, and we would be competitive," he said.

It would mean, for example, that there would not be a need for both the Rock Island and Milwaukee lines to maintain two side-by-side rail yards at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Nor would there be a need for two or more lines to maintain separate tracks between the same points.

Freight trains also could run through to their destinations, instead of switching when they come to another line's tracks, he said.

Not everyone is as enthusiastic about the idea as Knapton.

A key member of the Transportation Subcommittee staff said that bringing together financially ailing railroads is "like putting together two sick people and saying it will make them well."

At this point, the subcommittee is neither endorsing nor rejecting the idea.

Trinity Tabernacle welcomes new pastor

The Rev. and Mrs. Grady L. Parker, have assumed the pastorate of Trinity Tabernacle, 2001 Sixth St., Madison, following the resignation of the Rev. C. M. O'Guin who served the church for 30 years.

The Parkers last pastorate was in Emporia, Kan. They have been active in teaching at a youth camp in that district and have worked with inter-church ministries. Rev. Parker also served as spiritual advisor to the Women's Aglow organization there.

Both Rev. Parker and his wife, Sherri, are graduates of Southern Bible College, Houston, Tex. Parker received a degree in Ministry and Christian Education and Mrs. Parker earned a degree in Music and Christian Education. They are the parents of two children, a 3-year-old son, Grady Nelson Parker, and a one-year-old daughter, Melissa Lynn Parker.

The new minister and his family have moved into the manse and are in the process of reviewing church programs and community activities, according to Rev. Parker.

REV. GRADY PARKER
New Minister

Rev. O'Guin, the retiring minister, has accepted a position as a short term instructor at Southern Bible College. His tenure will begin in April and at the present time he is residing at his home, 2020 Cleveland Blvd.

Circle 835 discuss forthcoming events

Our Lady of Fatima Circle 835, Daughters of Isabella discussed a new book on its constitution at the January meeting held in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Regent Mrs. Florence Portell opened the meeting and announced information regarding the state convention, set for August in Cincinnati, Ohio, was received from the supreme regent.

The secretary Mrs. Mary Horvat gave her report and the ways and means committee reviewed plans for the forthcoming year.

The Rev. Robert E. O'Hara, M.S.F. of St. Joseph Church was appointed new chaplain for the circle, replacing the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence Mattingly, who resigned because of ill health, it was noted.

A corporate communion will be held at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison on Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 9 a.m., to be followed with a breakfast, according to the regent.

After the business session the birthdays of Mrs. Grace Range and Miss Dorothy Hoedbeck were observed.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Stephanie Ruzic, Grace Range, Margaret Richardson, Lee Reilly, Agnes Roderick, Margaret Kimark, Helen Romanic, Marian Ropac and Jeanette Scallan.

GC family welcomes two new grandsons

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kubelka, 3305 Wilshire Drive, became grandparents twice within 11 hours on Friday, Jan. 13, when their two daughters both gave birth to babies at separate hospitals.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Vickie) Ely, 4101 Maryville Road, became parents of a boy at 4:10 a.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He weighed six pounds, 13 ounces and has been named Nikolas Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Don (Pauline) Stark of Glen Carbon, became the parents of a boy at 3:13 p.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The new arrival weighed seven pounds, 13 ounces, and was named Brian David.

SENIOR CITIZEN CLUB HOSTS HOLIDAY PARTY

The Senior Citizen Saturday Night Pincush Club held a belated holiday party during the weekend at Anchorage Homes Recreation Center.

A catered dinner was served at 5:30 in the evening followed by card games.

There were 68 members present including guests Mr. and Mrs. David Morgan and Mrs. Theresa Anderson.

61ST ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Knight, 2554 Iowa St., who are observing the 61st anniversary of their marriage. He is a retired Granite City Steel employee and Mrs. Knight formerly worked at St. Elizabeth Hospital. A celebration was held Tuesday evening.

Mr., Mrs. Alvin Knight are married 61 years

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carter Knight, 2554 Iowa St., observed their 61st anniversary Tuesday evening at a dinner in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Eugene (Betty) Henry of Mitchell.

The couple has resided in Granite City since 1926, having been married on Jan. 17, 1917 in Cumberland City, Tenn.

Mr. Knight was employed at Granite City Steel prior to his retirement. His wife formerly worked at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

They are the parents of three daughters, Mrs. Harold (Mollie) Price and Mrs. Delmar (Helen) Bujnak, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Henry, and two sons, Robert A. Knight of Mitchell and Garland Knight of Glen Carbon.

Two daughters, Miss Dorothy Knight and Mrs. Ella Mae Williams, and a Granddaughter, Eva Marie Chase, are deceased.

At the present time, Mr. Knight is recuperating from a hip fracture. Mrs. Knight has suffered several heart attacks.

Believers in concert Saturday

The Believers, a gospel singing group from St. Louis, will highlight the January singing program Saturday evening at the Apostolic Pentecostal Church, 1346 Iowa St.

The Rev. Gerald Snider Sr., pastor, said the public is invited to attend the concert, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Joining The Believers on the program will be The Beacon Lights of Granite City.

Widely known for their singing talent in the bi-state metropolitan area, The Believers group is managed by Flinn Barr, formerly with the Victory Quartet.

Barr sings tenor and is joined by Bill Thomas, lead singer, Jim Dodson, bass, Doyler Fulbright, baritone and piano accompanist, Jerry Hobbs.

The non-denominational club meets every Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Grace Baptist Church, 2800 Edwards St., for a Bible study fellowship and pot luck luncheon, and all area senior citizens are invited to attend, it was announced.

Dinner party for Jolly 60's Club

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Dioneda, 2657 Cleveland Blvd., entertained 62 members of the Jolly 60's Club at a belated holiday dinner party held in their home.

Assisting Mrs. Dioneda at the buffet supper were Janice Wells, and Ann Turner.

During the evening, Roque Dioneda entertained the group with a program of selected music.

Proceeding the dinner club members toured the lighting display at Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville.

The non-denominational club meets every Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Grace Baptist Church, 2800 Edwards St., for a Bible study fellowship and pot luck luncheon, and all area senior citizens are invited to attend, it was announced.

Parents aid parish projects

The Sacred Heart Parent Teacher Organization, met last week at the school and made plans to distribute proceeds from the annual Winter Carnival and aid three separate projects.

Following a recommendation made by Mrs. Gertrude Petty the members agreed to set aside $300 for field trips for the students, provide $500 to the school for metric material, art supplies and additional reading materials. They will also contribute $1,000 to the parish to help defray the cost of a tractor that is equipped to cut grass and plow snow.

Sister Anne de Montfort, school principal, announced Catholic Education Week will begin on Jan. 28 with an open house at the school, at 1 p.m. and continue throughout the afternoon. Parents are invited to visit the school again on Tuesday, Jan. 31, to view the students working in their classrooms.

The eighth grade class will sponsor a bake sale during the open house observance, the principal added.

Further James Ott extended congratulations to the organization on a successful winter carnival event.

Other plans discussed during the meeting included a paper drive in March and an April foot dance scheduled for April 1, to feature the music of Vince's International Band.

A "craft-a-month" session will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, in the school reading room, to start preparations for the winter carnival this year, it was noted.

The first session will be in instruction on making burlap flowers and parish members are invited to attend, the president added.

Mrs. Patti Knobloch volunteered to assist the library personnel on Friday and Mrs. Petty and Sylvia Zabawa agreed to serve as teacher aides under the direction of Mrs. Sister Barbara Mary's class.

The third grade class of Mrs. Mary Marti received the parent attendance award for the evening.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the sixth grade room mothers.

Granite 650 holds memorial

A memorial service for deceased members of Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, was conducted at the chapter weekend meeting held at the Masonic Temple, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Watkins, worthy matron and Bill Watkins, worthy patron.

Mrs. Watkins held the ceremony in honor of the late Russell Staggs, Harriet Fuhrman and Leslie Howerton.

The worthy matron submitted a report on visits made to shut-in members and extended appreciation to Mrs. Blanche Lane for her work on the Christmas crocheted stockings, which were given to those who were ill.

Those escorted and introduced during the meeting were grand lecturers Hazel Wood, Mary Billrey, Betty McClintock, and Arline Fox, grand chapter committee members and past matrons and past patrons.

Surprise guests for the evening were Helen Love, worthy matron of New Hope Chapter, Ed Schilling, worthy patron of New Hope Chapter, Auggie Brinkman, worthy patron of Wood River Chapter and Tony Keller, past matron of Abraham Lincoln Chapter.

Pro tem officers for the evening included Lloyd Lewis as associate patron, Karmyn Edmonds, chaplain, Betty Ebrocht as Ruth and Florence Spohr as Electa.

The associate matron gave a review on the birthday calendar project and requested all who have additional names for the fund raising program to turn in the list at the Jan. 27 meeting.

A report on Eastern Star in Philadelphia, Pa., was given by Mrs. Edmonds.

Use of poinsettias and stuffed pandas bears were used as the decorating theme for the dining room, and each one present received a small stuffed bear ice box as a favor. Serving on the host committee were Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, Bonnie and Jerry Fisher, Peggy Gibbons, Donna Kazy, Guya Stuart and Louise Orr.

Illinois portion of metropolitan area growing faster than Missouri part

The population in the St. Louis Missouri-Illinois metropolitan area is estimated to be 2,422,000 as of Jan. 1, 1978, by the staff of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, an increase of 40,200 persons since the official 1970 census for the eight-county region.

The City of St. Louis is the only jurisdiction to decline in population since 1970, losing 107,400 persons.

St. Louis County increased by 64,200 persons, giving it a population of over one million. Madison County is thought to have increased from 250,834 to 260,900, a fourth of the overall regional growth.

Illinois growth exceeded Missouri growth in this region. The peripheral counties have undergone the largest percentage of population growth. St. Charles, Franklin and Jefferson in Missouri and Monroe in Illinois have experienced increases ranging from 10 percent to 25 percent since the 1970 census.

Several methods of estimation were used and tested to determine which best fit local trends. Statistics considered included births, deaths, residential utility customers, motor vehicle registration, and school enrollments.

A selection is made of the best method of estimation for each county, based on the consistency of the results with estimates for previous years, the consistency of the input data series, and knowledge of local conditions.

East-West Gateway's estimates are supported by analysts from other local organizations, including the Regional Commerce and Growth Association and the Union Electric Company. However, the estimates differ from estimates prepared by the U.S. Department of Commerce through federal-state cooperative programs.

The variations of the different estimates and their impact on funding of federal and state programs for the eight-county region will be spelled out in a paper being prepared jointly by East-West Gateway and the EWGCC.

The EWGCC population estimates for Jan. 1, 1978, are given second, following the 1970 census tallies:

Missouri portion, 1,826,907 and 1,844,900.
Franklin County, 55,116 and 65,200.
Jefferson County, 105,248 and 131,600.
St. Charles County, 92,954 and 117,700.
St. Louis City, 622,236 and 514,800.
St. Louis County, 651,353 and 1,015,600.
Illinois Portion of EWGCC, 534,941 and 577,100.
Madison County, 258,934 and 260,900.
Monroe County, 18,831 and 21,600.
St. Clair County, 285,176 and 294,600.
EWGCC region, 2,381,848 (1970) and 2,422,000 (1978).

Attention to water lines recommended

R. L. Jackson, manager, Granite City District, East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co., said this week that "extremely cold weather these past few days could cause problems for Granite City, Madison and Venice residents.

"Last year, thousands of homes were periodically out of water service due to frozen pipe lines. Much of this was caused by deep frost, and some was due to the cold penetrating unheated areas."

"The East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. recommends that individuals check their premises to protect or insulate exposed pipelines. "Water lines that freeze last year could likely freeze again if the well-below-freezing weather continues," he concluded.

The Committee of Friends of Harold E. "Gene" Briggs is sponsoring a Valentine dance on Friday, Feb. 10, at the Collinsville Park ballroom at 9 p.m. Music will be provided by Howard Mason and the Newtons.

Briggs is a candidate for reelection to the office of regional superintendent of schools in Madison County, seeking the Democratic nomination. He has served as regional superintendent for the past four years, being elected to the office in November 1974, after being appointed to complete the unfinished term of Wilbur R. L. Tripp in 1973.

Briggs was serving as assistant superintendent in the regional office at the time of his appointment. Prior to his work in the regional office, he served 15½ years as a teacher and principal in the Granite City schools.

Supt. Briggs has devoted 26½ years to the education of boys and girls in Madison County through his work in public schools, the regional office and his active participation in numerous educational organizations.

He has served as president of the Marquette Division of the Illinois Education Association and the Gateway East Field Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, chairman of the Madison County Curriculum Council for six years, and a life member of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

A veteran, he served in the U.S. Maritime Service, U.S. Marine Reserve and U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and was on active duty in the Marine Corps during the Korean War. Ticket information calls are being made to 344-0965 or 344-9743.

'Buck stops here' on tax responsibility

You can't "pass the buck" when it comes to responsibility for your own state income tax return, according to an official of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

"Illinois law makes the taxpayer alone responsible for his or her tax return," Gary V. Ey, manager of the department's income tax processing division, points out.

"That means the taxpayer is responsible for any errors or omissions on the return, and he's the one who'd have to pay any interest or penalties that may result."

Ey called most tax preparers "honest and competent professionals who perform a valuable service. They won't mind if you ask about their qualifications or fee schedule in advance."

Ey advises taxpayers to be suspicious of any tax preparer who:

- Promises a large refund or uses his address for any refund due.
- Refuses to sign the return as the preparer. A preparer is required to sign along with the filer.
- Requires a percentage of the refund.
- Asks the taxpayer to sign a blank or incomplete return or a return made out in pencil.

Taxpayers who suspect improper activities by a preparer may contact the revenue department's investigation division in Chicago at 312-793-3101.

General tax information and assistance are available free of charge by calling the Department of Revenue toll-free at 1-800-252-8972.

A correctly completed return filed early is the best way to insure a quicker refund of state income tax overpayments, Ey adds.

"Taxpayers who file an accurate return early in the filing season can speed the time it takes to receive refunds."

The department, which processes returns on a first-come, first-served basis, expects to issue refunds to more than half of the state's 4.5 million income tax filers.

The tax filing deadline is midnight April 17. "As the deadline approaches, the volume of returns coming into the department is greater," Ey said, "and the time to process returns grows. A person filing now can avoid the deadline rush."

Ey also said the department's statistics show that taxpayers who wait until late in the tax filing period to send in returns are more likely to make errors, which can delay processing and refunds.

He said errors that must be corrected through correspondence can double or triple the time to process a return.

"Even a slight oversight like forgetting to sign a return or not including a W-2 can delay a refund for weeks," he said.

Arts, games aid patients

By LORENZO BUFOED
Reliving childhood games, overcoming a personal fear and being a participant-observer in a setting where I have had prejudices without reason made an interview at the Alton Mental Health Center a unique experience.

I attended a class at the Center taught by Prof. Edwin Lawrence of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and his assistant Yvonne Moran, a graduate of SIUE in art.

The class is for the developmentally disabled. Prof. Lawrence is attempting to stimulate their interests in painting, singing and basic movement sessions.

The class is administered by the SIUE Office of Off Campus Programs. But this particular project is funded by the Illinois Humanities Council.

I had expected the class to take place in a big, empty, impersonal atmosphere. Instead, I found warmth and a mixture of recreation and work for the clients. It reminded me of being in kindergarten, where we learned to play games that helped us become more viable persons.

My first encounter with one of the clients was during his curiosity about my camera and tape recorder, which made me apprehensive. I smiled pleasantly, but I was afraid.

I must concede I was not certain what my fears entailed completely. I answered the questions. Then my first rude awakening occurred: He was a gentle person. He was like a child questioning his parents.

Prof. Lawrence had assured me there would be no problems as an observer-participant. Reluctantly, I agreed; actually, I wanted to say, "Can't we conduct the interview in another setting?" At that particular moment, I couldn't see any benefit for the clients or myself with my participation.

The first activity concerned clients discussing their paintings that had been done previously. Some of their interpretations were quite interesting. This gave me a feeling of guilt with my impressions.

The developmentally disabled are people—not that I had an alternative for them. It just seemed that I took things for granted.

Prof. Lawrence mentioned it was hard sometimes to sustain a conversation with his clients, but he urged their participation in a relaxed manner.

Clients are never forced into an activity, I learned from my observation. They are encouraged like children are encouraged to participate.

As I listened to their interpretations of their work, Yvonne Moran informed me that colors for the clients have symbolic meanings.

"We are not assuming the colors have a universal meaning for everyone. You have to look at patterns, verbal comments with non-verbal comments," she said.

I was surprised at the ease with which she and Prof. Lawrence worked with the clients. There was a genuine concern which was not staged for my presence.

They listened to what the clients were saying; the clients listened to them. And it was a moment when one human being was communicating with another instead of talking at each other.

"Their understanding is reflected in their participation," said Prof.

Lawrence. "We are hoping they will understand the basic movement concepts and then translate them into art material."

Miss Moran informed me that some of the clients' can be productive members of society. "They have a better understanding of their capabilities. Some clients do resist because they don't desire to change. Therefore, our expectations vary," she said.

She added that the trend has been to get away from institutions to community rehabilitation.

The next activity was a surprise to me. The clients, instructors and myself had to work as a group on a mural with chalk.

I felt silly doing this because I hadn't done anything of this sort since grade school. It was fun. The client sitting beside me fascinated me so much that I found myself assisting him with his drawing. I not only saw everyone working together; they were expressing what was concerning them.

Later, I found the client I had helped on the drawing had been using only one color until I worked with him.

At this particular moment, it seemed important to me that I listen to what was being said, to help the clients create and do something for someone... or maybe myself?

The next activity was basic dance movement. Prof. Lawrence played a violin while everyone performed basic movements led by Miss Moran.

The clients do this to help them get a feel of the music, according to Prof. Lawrence. He hopes they will take the experience into their drawings.

We ended the class by singing and dancing.

I have witnessed great dramatic moments in their and in concert performances, but the way the class ended affected me more.

One of the clients had been humming and singing "Mockingbird" throughout the entire session. As we were preparing to leave, everyone was standing in a circle, and he was singing:

"Hush little baby; don't you cry. Momma's going to buy you a mockingbird. And if that mockingbird don't sing, momma's going to buy you a diamond ring."

He believed there would always be someone there.

Indian tribes helping to make new type of Army camouflage

Secretary of the Army Clifford L. Alexander Jr. has signed two minority defense contracts totaling more than $15 million that were negotiated with the Small Business Administration and the U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command (TSARCOM) here.

The contracts will be processed through the SBA to the A & S Tribal Industries, Poplar, Mont., in the amount of $3,325,000 and to the Devils Lake Sioux Manufacturing Corp., Ft. Totten, N.D., and the Brunswick Corp., sponsor of the Devils Lake Sioux, in the amount of $12,240,000.

To date, including these awards, the total value of defense contracts to both companies for camouflage units is more than $73,700,538.

The Tribal Industries contract is for production of 60,000 of the new camouflage units and it expects to buy an additional 100,000 units over the next three years. Each unit is composed of two nets that can cover 100 square yards.

"To fool most radar sensors, the netting incorporates slivers of stainless steel."

"These slivers are shaped and distributed so that they absorb and scatter the radar signal instead of reflecting the beam. The radar sensor does not display a blip on the screen from the metal equipment hidden by the netting."

"Color pigments have been selected and combined so they resemble the surrounding terrain, woodland-desert-arctic. They not only fool the naked eye and conventional film, but also special camouflage detection film in the near-infrared region of the spectrum."

"While not entirely foolproof to some infrared sensors, the nets represent a big advance. They are lighter, easier to pack and easier to erect than the conventional burlap nets."

Conversation series

Murphy, assistant professor of English language and literature, and Jules Zanger, professor in the department, will be aired March 19.

The programs are part of a series of radio programs on the humanities and social sciences produced by the university each quarter.

WSIE-FM (88.7), the radio station located on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has announced its winter quarter schedule of programs being broadcast on the series, "Conversations in the Arts and Humanities."

This program, moderated by Paul F. Guenther, began this month will be aired also on Feb. 12 and 19, and March 12 and 19 at 5 p.m. Guenther is a professor of foreign languages and literature at the university.

A conversation with John Danley and William Linden of the SIUE department of philosophical studies was featured on the Jan. 8 program. Daniel O'Gorman discussed Libya on Jan. 15.

Betty Osiek, faculty member in the SIUE department of foreign languages and literature, will talk about Latin America on Feb. 12, and Henrietta Guenther will examine Yiddish on Feb. 19.

On March 12, WSIE-FM will rebroadcast an interview with John Richardson, professor of art and design at the university.

A STATEMENT OF POLICY FROM TRI-CITY GROCERY CO.

In 1914, when my grandfather started the first Tri-City Grocery store we used for regular deliveries more than ten teams of mules and several one-horse wagons for hot-shot deliveries. Eight girls took telephone orders, about ten men were used in the order department. We had hundreds of credit accounts, using three bookkeepers to handle these alone. This cost a lot of money and of course these expenses had to be added onto the price of the food if we were to continue in business. It did not take many years for my grandfather to figure out that those costs could be eliminated if we sold on a cash and carry basis. So in a few years he instituted this new system, creating what was probably the first super market in this area.

Our food distribution ideas are predicated on giving the consumer the greatest values possible. Proof that this idea is sound is the fact that our dollar volume has increased probably a hundred times since we began our super market operation.

We would naturally like to think that this was because we were more astute, keener and smarter than our competition. However this is not so. What modest success we have enjoyed has been because of adherence to our 64-year-old policy of giving values.

We pledge to continue this policy.
